Dear Mr. Hoover,

How would one of your calibre and intelligence interpret the recent actions of our President and our government in calling Martin Luther King a hero and great leader of our country when for many years it has been a known fact that said same King has been an avowed communist.

A member of such, of that great conspiracy bound and determined to bring our country under the heel of Kremlin control.

Why -- how could such a crazy thing happen?

Yours truly,

March 30, 1965

Who then, is the one or group that push these groups together—that gives it cohesiveness, strength, money, and direction? Who or what can weld this diverse group together into a formidable force that can—and has—overcome? The answer is this: the Communist Party.

There are those that make a living out of seeing a Communist behind every bush or tree—or some Communist conspiracy or plot in every action of the State Department or foreign diplomacy. Let me assure you that such is not the case with me. I have not wanted to believe it—but I have been convinced. There are some in the Congress that do not want to believe it—and will not listen to the facts.

A few weeks ago a group of 14 Members from this House made themselves a committee to go to Selma to look into the situation there. In the course of the testimony that was given there, Judge Bernard Reynolds, probate judge of Dallas County, started mentioning the fact that there were Communist influences at work in the streets of Selma. He was interrupted by one of the visiting gentlemen with the remark:

We don't care anything about that. Let's leave the Communists out of this.

I was later impressed with the evident truth of this statement when a vote of the Congress was taken to give or deny an appropriation to the House Un-American Activities Committee. Thirteen of these same fourteen Members voted against the House Un-American Activities Committee—the very committee of this body whose job it is to find out about communism in the U.S.A.

I am sure there are others here and elsewhere that "don't want to hear about Communists." But the facts are here for anyone that has eyes to see. The Communist Party and the Communist apparatus is the undergirding structure for all of the racial troubles in Alabama for the past 3 months.

Look at the speakers on the platform in front of the capitol in Montgomery or participating prominently in the march and demonstrations.

First. Carl Braden: A well-known Communist who has been active in civil rights activities for several years. Carl Braden has been active in so-called civil rights efforts for several years in the South. He was once convicted for conspiring with Negroes in Kentucky to bomb other Negroes' houses.

Second. Abner Berry: One of the directors of the Communist Party in the United States was in and out of the Selma-Montgomery area—and was photographed, I am told. I have not seen the photograph.

Third. James Peck: Field secretary for CORE. He has a Federal criminal record. Mr. Peck and a group of demonstrators once tried to prevent the launching of our first nuclear submarine. Later, he was forcibly removed from a nuclear test area in the Pacific where he had sailed with another group of demonstrators in an attempt to halt our Government's nuclear test program. Does anyone honestly believe that Mr.

Peck is interested in Alabama Negroes' civil rights?

Fourth. Bayard Rustin: Rustin heads an organization known as the War Resisters League—which is the U.S. branch of an international organization known as War Resisters International. The purpose of this organization, in other words Mr. Bayard Rustin's chief business, is to persuade and to aid young men to avoid compulsory military service to their country. As recently as 2 years ago, Bayard Rustin's War Resisters League shared offices in New York City with the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Council—otherwise known as Snick. Snick was cosponsor, along with Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference of the Montgomery march. Bayard Rustin, by his own admission in the Saturday Evening Post, was a Communist Party organizer for 12 years.

Fifth. And what about the king himself—King Martin Luther. The only man in America that can announce when he will see the President—and it becomes a fact. Martin Luther King himself has amassed the staggering total of more than 60 Communist-front affiliations since 1955. In spite of which Dr. King has been quoted as saying last summer in Greenwood, Miss., that "there are no more Communists in the Mississippi summer project than there are Eskimos in Florida." With King at the time he made this statement was Bayard Rustin, who served as King's executive secretary for 3 years. King has also said that there are no Communists in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Hunter Pitts O'Dell, who took the fifth amendment before the House Un-American Activities Committee, and who was identified by witnesses as a Communist Party member, worked for more than a year with King's SCLC movement. King repeatedly denied that O'Dell was connected with his organization until the facts were proven otherwise, then he admitted that O'Dell had been employed by the SCLC. When King promoted the demonstrations in Birmingham in the summer of 1963, police identified and photographed a number of known Communist and suspected Communist sympathizers in King's supporting groups. His chief of staff at that time was Wyatt T. Walker. Mr. Walker is today editorial advisor to the Progressive Labor Movement, which has been described by Mr. J. Edgar Hoover as a Marxist-Leninist group following the more violent Chinese Communist line. The fact is that Martin Luther King has been virtually surrounded by Communists or Communist-fronters since 1955. No man in America has received more praise or more space coverage in such Communist newspapers as The Worker and People's World as Martin Luther King.

The logical question follows, why would the Communists want to do this? What will they gain? The answer is that years ago a systematic plan was started by the Communists to divide the Deep South from the rest of the Nation by the very tactics they are now using. Divide and conquer. They are being eminently successful. The most disturbing thing about it is that the U.S. Government knows all these facts. That the FBI has a file on King Martin Luther and all the others I have mentioned. Yet the Government helped promote the occurrences in Alabama and even had an Under Secretary of State participate on the program with known Communists. Leroy Collins, Director, Community Relations Service, U.S. Department of Commerce, participated in the march. Government officials participate in such activities, and the Justice Department assists in their promotion, all with knowledge and consent of the President.

Mr. Speaker, I implore this body to cast aside all prejudice by color—pro or con. Forget race and look at all the facts objectively. Recently the American public has been made colorblind to the point that black makes red white. America must substitute reason and fact for emotion. We must wake up before it is too late. It may be too late now.

AFFIDAVIT

I, Karl Prussion, a former counterspy for the Federal Bureau of Investigation from 1947 to 1960, do hereby swear under oath and under penalty of perjury, that from the years 1954 through 1958 I attended five county committee meetings of the Communist Party of Santa Clara County, Calif. (A county committee meeting of the Communist Party consists of one delegate representing each Communist cell in a county.) The meetings were held during the aforementioned period in the following locations: The residence of Robert Lindsay, Communist, in San Jose, Calif., 1954; the residence of Mary Field, Communist section organizer, Palo Alto, Calif., 1955; the residence of Isobel and Edwin Cerney, both Communists, Menlo Park, Calif., 1956; the residence of Gertrude Adler, Communist, Palo Alto, Calif., 1957; the residence of Karl Prussion, counterspy for the FBI, Los Altos, Calif., 1958; the residence of Myra White, Communist, Mountain View, Calif., 1959.

I hereby further solemnly state that at each and every meeting as set forth above, one Ed Beck, Communist, who is presently secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People of San Mateo County, Calif., and a member of the Congress on Racial Equality (CORE), presented the directive from the district office of the Communist Party in San Francisco to the effect that: "All Communists working within the framework of the NAACP are instructed to work for a change of the passive attitude of the NAACP toward a more militant, demonstrative, class struggle policy to be expressed by sit-ins, demonstrations, marches, and protests, for the purpose of transforming the NAACP into an organization for the achievement of Communist objectives."

I further swear and attest that at each and every one of the aforementioned meetings, one Rev. Martin Luther King was always set forth as the individual to whom Communists should look and rally around in the Communist struggle on the many racial issues.

I hereby also state that Martin Luther King has either been a member of, or wittingly has accepted support from, over 60 Communist fronts, individuals, and/or organizations, which give aid to or espouse Communist causes.

KARL PRUSSON.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 28th day of September 1963.

GEORGE E. SEARLES,
Notary Public.

My commission expires September 17, 1966.

MARCH ON MONTGOMERY—THE UNTOLD STORY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under previous order of the House, the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. DICKINSON) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, last week Alabama witnessed the climax to weeks of civil rights activities in my State. It was a week which brought literally thousands of men and women of many races, colors, and creeds to participate in what has been widely considered as a kind of holy crusade for human rights. During this period there were scores of confrontations between demonstrators and law enforcement agencies—resulting in many arrests. There was discord, there was violence, there was death, all of which we deplore. From all of this a completely distorted picture of the State of Alabama has been painted. It is a picture of a place peopled by vicious, racist bigots whose only joy is found in the suppression of the Negro race; in the denial of the Negro's right to vote and to participate as a first-class citizen of his State and his Nation; a place where the Negro's search for simple human dignity must go forever unrewarded; a place where the Negro must live out his days in constant terror of police brutality and bombs that explode in the night.

Mr. Speaker, this is an image of Alabama widely accepted as accurate by many people in this Nation and the rest of the world today. It is, however, an image which has been deliberately, knowingly, and purposefully contrived. I have pointed this out before on this floor. It is, in short, but a part of an effort to divide and to conquer this Nation—and if this effort goes unchallenged, it may well accomplish its purpose.

There is a story here, however, that has been untold and, for the most part, is unknown. While I have but one small voice and what I say here may go unheeded, I would be remiss in my duties if I did not speak the facts for all of America to know—and the facts which I am about to relate are true and I can substantiate every fact. Mr. Speaker, if you think these facts are vile and obscene and are unpleasant to hear, I agree. But think what it is like to have witnessed them and had them occur in your community.

First and foremost there was not one big group of moralists and Negro sympathizers that invaded Selma and marched on Montgomery. There were four distinct and usually identifiable groups intermingled and participating in a common effort but each for its own motives.

This has been characterized by some and depicted as a type of holy crusade. Let me read you a circular actually handed out to the marchers by some of those participating in the march:

WELCOME FREEDOM MARCHERS TO HOLLYWOOD BURLESQUE

(Produced by Paul Moscovitz and Peggy Anne)

GIRLS—GIRLS—GIRLS—GIRLS—GIRLS—GIRLS

Entertainment and refreshments furnished free to all freedom marchers by the Hollywood 10 Committee in cooperation with the Oged Committee To End Bigotry and Censorship.

(Note to ministers: We appreciate the cooperation given this spectacular, modern adventure in person-to-person entertainment by some of you who have cast off the chains of the past. Several of you, including perhaps the leader himself, are trying to make you look too pious and too old-fashioned. Please prevail upon the holdbacks to let the show go on in all of its unrestricted glory, fun, frolic, and warmth.)

TENT 9 NIGHTLY

Tent 9 will be pitched each evening ahead of the march, and the gala burlesque review will begin when the crowd arrives. Let every good man arrive.

(Note to southern girls: Come join in the fun if you can cast off the old-fashioned ideas, whether of racial bigotry or medieval moronic morality. Hollywood's greatest tradition beckons you. Come, meet Paul and the boys.)

Is this circular out of character with the rest of the march? Look at the participants.

One group was the Alabama Negro who participated to help secure rights and privileges which he felt had been withdrawn from him illegally. And there are many instances where this has been so—especially historically. This is not universally so in Alabama, however—only in isolated areas and none of these areas recently.

A second group are the do-gooders—those from outside our State who have no personal interest or involvement but who, out of compassion for those whom they are convinced need help and, although misinformed and misguided as to both the full facts and how those whom they seek to help can best be helped, come and participate in the marches, demonstrations and even serious civil disturbances. This group, for the most part are serious, sincere, educated people such as the clergy, nuns, teachers and other professional people. While their purpose may be noble, to a large extent they defeat their own aims because they worsen the condition they seek to improve. Let me hasten to add, however, that not all men who profess to be men of God and who don the clerical garb participate for altruistic reasons. Many are the type Jesus had in mind when he said:

And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: For they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, they have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to the Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.

We of our State do not condemn the first group. Perhaps we would react similarly in like circumstances. We can recognize the good intentions of the second group even though we know their method is wrong.

These two groups, however, make up only a small part of the total effort. Both of these groups are in fact being victimized and used as unknowing tools of the other two groups involved. In the final analysis the Alabama Negro will not achieve what he seeks by the means he now employs, nor will the do-gooders have helped him permanently.

The third group, also a tool being used by the fourth group, are human flotsam: adventurers, beatniks, prostitutes, and similar rabble. They flock to the standard of civil rights because this clothes them with a morality and a purpose which they otherwise lack. The fact is that they are recruited to be full-time demonstrators. They are promised $10 per day, free room and board and all of the sex they want from opposite members of either race. Free love among this group is not only condoned; it is encouraged. It is a fact and their way of life. Only by the ultimate sex act with one of another color can they demonstrate they have no prejudice.

Do I exaggerate? The pamphlet I have read at the beginning of my talk was distributed among the marchers from Selma to Montgomery. Drunkenness and sex orgies were the order of the day in Selma, on the road to Montgomery, and in Montgomery. There were many—not just a few—instances of sexual intercourse in public between Negro and white. News reporters saw this—law enforcement officials saw this, and Mr. Speaker, photographs were taken of this, I am told. I have not seen the actual photographs, but they are being processed and compiled.

Negro and white freedom marchers invaded a Negro church in Montgomery and engaged in an all-night session of debauchery within the church itself. The leadership of the church had to get help to have these freedom marchers put out of their church and even had to have the telephone disconnected because of the long-distance calls. Urinating in the street was not uncommon during demonstrations and more than one of these freedom marchers was arrested for indecent exposure in a public place.

Has anyone stopped to ask what sort of people can leave home, family and job—if they have one—and live indefinitely in a foreign place demonstrating? This is no religious group of sympathizers trying to help the Negro out of a sense of right and morality—this is a bunch of godless riffraff out for kicks and self-gratification that have left every campsite between Selma and Montgomery littered with whisky bottles, beer cans, and used contraceptives. I am prepared to prove these facts.

If you wonder why the Reverend Norman C. Turendell, of Wubuque, Iowa, Rabbi Richard Rubenstein, chaplain of the University of Pittsburgh, and many other ministers and religious leaders left the so-called freedom march in disgust, this is the reason.

EDITORIAL IN THE "MANCHESTER UNION LEADER"

67(c) Attached is a copy of an enlightened editorial regarding Martin Luther King, Jr., which appeared in the April 17, 1968, issue of the "Manchester Union Leader" of Manchester, New Hampshire. This editorial has been sent in by [REDACTED] a staunch supporter of the FBI and reliable contact in New York publishing circles.

Congressman John R. Rarick of Louisiana included this editorial in the "Congressional Record" in an extension of remarks which he made on April 23, 1968.

The "Manchester Union Leader" is, of course, the newspaper which is published by William Loeb. In November, 1964, Loeb was removed from the Special Correspondents List as a result of improperly construing the Director's action in sending flowers to Walter Jenkins. Later that month, however, he supported the Director when the situation involving Martin Luther King, Jr., arose; and he again was placed on the Special Correspondents List. Loeb's name was removed from the Special Correspondents List a second time in January, 1967, after he alleged Mr. DeLoach had furnished him information indicating that wiretaps were used against James R. Hoffa.

This enlightened editorial stands out in sharp contrast to the eulogies which have been published elsewhere.

BUT WHEN YE PRAY, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. —MATT.

The Truth About Dr. King

We are about to break a promise we made to ourselves at the time of Martin Luther King's assassination in Memphis. We had determined not to speak ill of the dead, to allow the evil that Dr. King did to be interred with his bones.

Now, regrettably, we find that we can no longer remain silent. For Dr. King's idolators, however innocent their motivation, seem to want to make of the civil rights leader in death what he never was in life. Therefore, while declining to succumb to vindictiveness, and with full understanding of the feelings of those who believed in Dr. King's "mission," we feel constrained to set forth a few pertinent facts before the truth is forever buried by deceit and maudlin sentimentality.

Therefore, let the record show: — That while Dr. King spoke of "civil disobedience" and "attention-getting activities," his words created that restlessness and dissatisfaction that overt demagogues used to stir negroes to rioting, looting and bloodshed.

—That the sincerity of his call for freedom for all men must be measured by his lack of concern for the freedom of non-Communist South Vietnamese, non-Communist Congolese who were slaughtered by the Gbenye movement, non-Communist Cubans, non-Communist Tibetans, and the non-Communist crew of the USS Pueblo.

— That this attitude of indifference — if not open hostility—to the cause of anti-communism, was matched by his association with identified Communists, such as his former aide Jack O'Dell, and by his recent participation in the 100th anniversary rally for the negro Communist, W. E. B. DuBois, at which King was quoted as saying: "Our irrational obsession with anti-communism has led us into many quagmires. Dr. DuBois will be with us when we go to Washington to demand our right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

— That he ignored the protests of other negro civil rights leaders, such as Roy Wilkins and Whitney Young, and insisted on tying the civil rights movement to the cause of the Viet Cong in South Vietnam. That he permitted one of his associates, Rev. James Bevel, to help organize the peace-nik demonstrations in New York's Central Park and in the UN Plaza where King spoke and American flags were burned. That he allowed Mrs. King to accompany a delegation of women to Hanoi.

ENCLOSURE

ENCLOSURE

— That he lent his name to the "Vietnam Summer" protest demonstrations, causing Dr. Alfred Jarrette, author of "The Negro in Politics" and educational advisor to Harlem Youth Activities Unlimited (HARYOU), to state in May of 1967 that King "has been used as a tool of the Communist Party in several instances."

— That his cavalier attitude toward the law and property rights was manifest in his march into Chicago where he took over one landlord's property and used it for rent collection without the owner's permission.

— That he openly admitted in an interview in the New York Times of Feb. 6, 1965, that his doctrine of non-violence was designed to "bring to the surface" the violence of white America.

— That King's so-called "poor people's march" on Washington, now postponed until next month, was a pure and simple blackmail threat: If Congress does not agree to a $10 billion spending program, including a "guaranteed annual income" for all people, even those without jobs, he, Dr. King, would not be responsible for the consequences:

"If nothing is done, I think the riots this summer will be worse than last summer. Talk of guerrilla warfare can increase and even become a reality."

— That, in preparation for the march on Washington, he met in secret conferences with "black power" militants, including Stokely Carmichael, Castro's front man, who issued a statement that the time has come to disrupt American cities "to help our Viet Cong comrades-in-arms."

— That Dr. King linked the march to the "get-out-of-Vietnam" theme by collaborating with SANE and Students for a Democratic Society.

— That many of his "predictions" seemed to condone — and were followed by — violence: "I'm sorry to have to say this, but the intolerable conditions which brought about racial violence last summer (1966) still exist." (Washington Star, April 17, 1967).

— That in early 1967 he vilified his country as

"the greatest purveyor of violence in the world today."

— That the so-called advocate of "peace" backed a resolution calling on the UN to use military force against Rhodesia.

— That in early 1967 many people had concluded "that Dr. King has perhaps come to the distasteful decision that while non-violence is worth espousing, it cannot achieve what violence can and, in certain circumstances, may be condoned." (Editorial, Lewiston, Me. Evening Journal).

— That King bitterly attacked the United States in early 1967 in an incredible speech in which he compared U.S. military methods to those of the Nazis testing new methods and new drugs in the concentration camps of Europe, causing Jewish War Veterans National Commander Malcolm Tarlov to chide him for "an ignorance of the facts, pandering to Ho Chi Minh, and an insult to the intelligence of all Americans."

— That, on the eve of the Communist-promoted "Vietnam Week" movement, King charged in a vicious address, sponsored by the Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, that American GI's in Vietnam were killing innocent civilians, "mostly children," degrading children as they beg for food, raping young girls, and turning their mothers into prostitutes.

— That Dr. King, who spoke of "equal rights," was willing to accept favored status for associates in April 1966 when the Justice Department hushed up a stolen car incident involving Hosea Williams, a top attache of Dr. King. (See Union Leader, April 27, 1966).

— That King went about advocating the admission of Red China to the UN and seemingly tying the issue into civil rights, and seeking to play a direct role in U. S. foreign policy in violation of at least the spirit of the Logan Act. (Union Leader, Sept. 1, 1965).

— That he blamed the negro riots in California in the summer of 1965 on white suppression of negroes, and, again, "predicted": "Police power can only bring a temporary halt."

— That when Congolese savages were slaughtering hundreds of Catholic priests and nuns and Protestant missionaries, Dr. King wrote to President Johnson opposing aid to The Congo and Moise Tshombe under any circumstances, humanitarian or otherwise.

— That, in referring to the demonstrations in Alabama, Most Rev. Thomas J. Toolen, Roman Catholic bishop of Mobile and Birmingham, while himself promoting "just and equitable" treatment for negroes, accused King of "trying to divide our people." At the time, the liberal columnists Rowland Evans and Robert Novak expressed alarm that King had "surrendered valuable ground to leftist extremists in their drive for control of the civil rights movement," adding: "Unless King breaks with the SNICK extremists, liberal whites may no longer follow his leadership." They were wrong about that.

—That when Dr. King received the Nobel Peace Prize in Stockholm in 1964, he used the occasion to deliver a vicious tirade against the United States.

— That Dr. King, who some now describe as "saintly," sat idly by in 1964 and permitted civil rights extremists to attempt to falsely label Barry Goldwater an anti-negro bigot.

— That King participated in the relentless attack on FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in 1964, accusing the FBI of not protecting the legal rights of southern negroes and civil rights agitators from the North. In a celebrated interview, in which he also criticized "red neck sheriffs," Hoover called King "the most notorious liar in the country." After goading Hoover into making this statement, King played the "get Hoover" role to the hilt, suggesting that the FBI director was faltering "under the awesome burdens, complexities and responsibilities of his office."

— That in late 1964, when a much-decorated New York policeman, Lt. Gilligan, shot in self defense and killed a negro who attacked him with a knife; Dr. King refused to wait until the policeman had been given his day in court. He charged that Gilligan was guilty of "murder."

— That Dr. King, in denying the Communist and pro-Communist backgrounds of associates in the civil rights movement, knew full well of the backgrounds of Jesse Grey, William Epton, Hunter Pitts O'Dell, Benjamin E. Smith and others.

It is extremely distasteful to us to have to bring these issues to light again. But we believe it is very much in the national interest that Dr. King not be held up as a model citizen to be emulated—or at least not until there has been sufficient time for all Americans to consider that part of his record which the leftist opinion-molders seek to conceal.

Dr. King was a brave man, a determined man, but also—in our carefully considered opinion—a clever demagogue.

Dear Senator Russell,

I would appreciate your help on finding an answer to some questions which I continual to hear. It is out of great concern that I write in asking for any information which you may be able to give.

Can you help me determine if there is any information that the FBI has publicly declared that the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was a communist? Do you know of any declared statement by the FBI or any other Official Government Agency that the National Council of Churches is a communistic organization? Also, do you know if there is any information available as to whether and the number of Communist Ministers in the Protestant and Catholic Churches in America?

Many thanks for any information which you may be able to give on the above questions. With every best wish, I am ReBulet 4-29-68 with enclosure.

Discreet inquiries with various sources in the vicinity of Danville, Kentucky, determined that there was no formal meeting of any type in the vicinity of Danville during the week of 4-15-68.

It is possible that an impromptu and spontaneous type of gathering occurred which, of course, could not be ascertained through sources available to this office.

Inasmuch as investigation has determined no formal meeting occurred, the identity of the former Agent, likewise, could not be determined.

Dear [REDACTED]

Your letter was received on May 3rd and I appreciate the interest which prompted you to write.

In response to your inquiry concerning Martin Luther King, I can assure you that the affidavit you mentioned was not executed by an FBI Agent. You may be referring to an affidavit executed by Karl Prussion on September 28, 1963. Karl Prussion assisted this Bureau by furnishing information on subversive activities from November, 1949, to July, 1958, during which time he was compensated; however, he was not a Special Agent. His personal ventures, his opinions and comments are strictly his own and the FBI is not in a position to comment on these in any way whatsoever.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

NOTE: Bufiles contain no record identifiable with correspondent. Prussion executed an affidavit on September 28, 1963, with respect to King's communist affiliations. This affidavit together with the picture showing King at the Highlander Folk School in Monteagle, Tennessee, has been widely distributed.

PROFILE OF A REVOLUTIONARY

On October 4th, Congressman John M. Ashbrook of Ohio summarized a lengthy speech on THE CAREER OF DR. MARTIN L. KING, JR. in the following words:

"... I believe that any thinking American who will study his words must conclude as I have that he is disloyal to the United States. He maligned his country with lies and accusations that come straight from the Communist Party Line. A strong statement, you say. Listen to what he said. He praised Ho Chi Minh as the only true leader of the Vietnamese people. He condemned the United States as the 'greatest purveyor of violence in the world today,' and likened our nation to Hitler's Germany. He condemned the late President Diem as 'one of the most vicious modern dictators' and threw out wild charges like the United States may have killed one million children in Vietnam. He conjured up an American napalm war in Peru so he could denounce it. He said we have no honorable intentions in Vietnam and our minimal expectations is to occupy it as an American colony. These are but a few of the wild accusations of the Nobel Prize winner many people have been led to believe is a man of peace."

MARTIN LUTHER KING

According to the WASHINGTON OBSERVER, September 13, 1967, it is now possible to report that the F.B.I. file on Dr. King is in the hands of three Congressional committees:

"The lawmakers were so shocked at what they read in the confidential F.B.I. report that they plan to summon King before their committees and delve deeply into his involvement with Communist conspirators. As previously reported in the Washington Observer, when the F.B.I. agents had King under surveillance THEY OBSERVED HIM MEET A WELL-IDENTIFIED SOVIET ESPIONAGE AGENT AT THE KENNEDY AIRPORT IN NEW YORK. They also secured evidence that King was receiving large sums of money from A WELL-KNOWN AMERICAN COMMUNIST AGENT WHO GIVES KING INSTRUCTIONS which he implicitly obeys. The Federal agents also adduced evidence of his unsavory personal conduct in Washington hotels and elsewhere

"LET NOT HIM WHO IS INDEED FREE

HIM WORK DILIGENTLY AND SHALL GAIN FOR HIMSELF THE EXAMPLE
REWARDING THAT HIS OWN SHALL BE SAFE FROM VIOLENCE WHICH BRUT.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

6076

Sometime ago I asked you if Mr. Martin Luther King had been a member of the Communist Party or had also been a member of apparently thirty-two Communist front organizations. I had heard this rumor on many occasions and at the time of your reply, you stated that it was not possible for you to make any statements regarding this subject matter.

Now that Mr. Martin Luther King is deceased, I am wondering if you can make any statements regarding his past Communist or Communist front affiliations? I personally have been very suspicious of his actions because by his claiming to be a "non-violent" fomenter of civil disobedience, how does one account for the fact that every time he showed up at one of the demonstrations, things got out of hand and according to your own reports, from two hundred to two hundred and fifty well-known Communist agitators were in attendance?

I could never understand why the American people have not been fully appraised of what goes on behind the scenes with these agitators. I firmly believe that we taxpayers have a right to know the true affiliations of such rabble rousers as was Martin Luther King and I cannot understand why our legislators do not face up to facts and take care of matters in the proper way. You yourself advocate punishment for evil-doers and I am fully in agreement with your opinions. Unless we meet these rabble rousers headon, we will continue to have additional, and even more severe, troubles in the future.

I am enclosing a couple of articles which I am sure you would find very interesting reading.

Sincerely,

Ack

Dear Mrs. Bolton:

Your letter of April 25th, with enclosure, has been received. I want to thank you for forwarding the letter you received from Mr. Richard Pechfelder to me.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

NOTE: We have had previous cordial relations with Mrs. Bolton. The enclosure to her letter was a letter [redacted] forwarded to her which was addressed to the Director. Our files show that [redacted] aka., who is probably identical with correspondent, was the subject of an Internal Security - G case in 1942. Information developed determined that he was at one time a member of the German-American Bund. He was also referred to by co-workers [redacted] apparently because of his limited mental capacity. Our files also indicate that [redacted] who is now approximately 70 years old, retired from his employment in Cleveland in 1965. He desired to live permanently in East Germany. In view of [redacted] background and current residence, it is not deemed appropriate to acknowledge his letter.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is just a smattering of the kind of thinking in far too many hearts which have been being expressed in familiar groups of people since at least 12 years when the White Citizens Council has warned its organization of hatred of the Negro; for I know of at least 12 years in Alabama. This organization is in many other states also but the thinking of the people in other states
I can't say.

REC-68 100-106670-3421

In early 1956 a program was put over a Birmingham Radio station promoting discords and hatred of the Negro race. I do not recall the name of the station nor the post office Box number the organization wanted to carry on their correspondence. But after a week or so of listening to their programs I did write them at the Box number and told them what I thought of them and then I also wrote the Radio station and told them I would never listen to any station again which permitted such a program promoting an organization of hatred. I did not receive any reply from either the organization nor Radio station. It was a two week broadcast headed by 2 brothers names I can't recall.

ENCLOSURE ATTACHED

CORRESPONDENCE

I know the Negro Organizations were forced to bind together for their own safety - NAACP, CORE, S.C.L.C.

The Negro race had been frightened for too long a time by Ku Klux Klan and then White Citizens Councils springing up. At present the heads of the Ku Klux Klan - Shelton states they have a great number of them age boys under their directions to teach them, as a patriotic movement.

There is no agitators in comparison to K. K. K and White Citizens Councils members, but theirs is in secret, not open. The Negro organizations are far more openly.

As this Alabama Journal editorial states in yesterday's edition "An organization which we thought had passed from the scene", but I knew the attitude had not changed with far too many for it to have been completely out of existence the white people would never have endured the belittling and attitude of superiority of anyone else over us. The Negro race is to be commended for they wrote to Gov. James Folsom at the beginning of the White Citizens organizing to request a consideration of that publishing in Alabama a Bi-Racial Commission.
Within the week he announced public in the press his intention to do so. According the the press - there was such a clamor against the Bi Racial thought plan he had to pass up the idea. My name was mentioned in the article now reply on this.

The K. K. K. is supposed to be a Christian organization according to their statements. The white citizens councils I understand are mainly members of protestant churches and therefore they consider their leaders as Christian leaders.

I am a native of Alabama, my family lineage of quiet, law abiding citizens has been in this state ^{ever} since the first census of Ala in 1820.

I am a Christian, not just a member of a church, who respects each and every creation of God and desire that all people show the same respect for all mankind.

The contacts through out my life with the negro people have meant much to me. Co-existence is educational in which God can and will lead for good to mankind and to Gods glory.

Why are so many negroes and poor white on welfare - they are paid only what is a necessity and seldom pay on employees. The social security arrangement in preparation for disability and old age.

Perhaps if the individual household could receive credit for what they pay to regular employees by tax deduction credit the attitude might improve.

That would be far more sensible than deductions given for church when the membership receives credit in deduction for money they contribute to be given as they please but still treat any negro with contempt who want to visit in a white people church to worship the same God. Church people can be very independent and cruel to their least negro but send them money and want to money for missionary work to Africa etc. This church building is the House of God for worship and fellow believers in Christ Jesus.

This letter is Confidential for your use in helping to clear the problems of racial distrust.

I feel as soon as I can complete my Autobiography "My God Is Real" that it can talk clear much of our present state thinking. I trust it won't be much longer in the Arranging process.

For any contact it should be in regard to Missionary speaking or Teaching Bible lesson ~~at~~ Sunday School time in Protestant Churches. I've never been on a Missionary Board but personal Witness and Teaching whenever I am located. But the operation will be required other than this church.

My present Church affiliation is with [redacted]

[redacted] Montgomery Ala. 36107. I am 54 years of age.

Addition:

a few recent years back there was a daytime talk program on a Birmingham Radio station. From that program this statement was given by an unnamed individual on the broadcasts: "The reason president Johnson lets Martin Luther King get by with so much is that Martin Luther King's wife and Mrs Johnson are sisters. They both have the same father but Mrs King's mother was a Negro employee." Again statements have been broadcast that Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt (Eleanor) was part negro and that is the reason she did so much for the Negro people.

For many listeners accept as gospel truth any statement made as a fact. Even if such was the truth, a ^{wild} statement could be made of any person for a mother must carry and bear and care for an infant. The mother will be known but the father - in imagination - is Satan filled persons can certainly be far fetched and deceiving - completely lacking in fact. The talk regarding Mrs. King & Mrs. Johnson is still running in areas. We all stand in need of remembering this play "Has grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference."

THE DEATH OF DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.
A Statement Made by Dr. Robert Strong on Palm Sunday, April 7, 1968
At Trinity Presbyterian Church, Montgomery, Alabama

The terrible crime of political assassination has occurred twice in this decade. First President Kennedy was struck down. Then last Thursday Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was killed in the second instance of murder by the use of a rifle equipped with a telescopic sight. These were dreadful crimes and constitute shameful episodes in the history of our nation. How can a man be so presumptuous as to take it upon himself to decree the death of his fellow-citizen? The crime is truly heinous.

Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. King and the three children. Suddenly she is a widow, suddenly they are fatherless. A terrible wrong has been done them.

There is no denying it -- Dr. King was a great leader. He stood at the forefront of the civil rights movement. No other Negro could match his eloquence. A day of national mourning has been declared in his honor. Respect is being paid to his memory that surpasses anything ever accorded one who is not a major official of government. A kind of hysteria seems to have swept large elements of the population.

Some of us must surely think there is a need to put things into better perspective.

To those who have presumed to liken the death of Martin Luther King to that of Jesus Christ it ought to be suggested that serious doubts may be held concerning King's right to be called a Christian. As I pointed out on Palm Sunday three years ago, making reference to an interview with Dr. King in The National Observer under date of December 30, 1963, Dr. King went on record as not believing the cardinal doctrines of the virgin birth of Christ, the deity of Christ, the substitutionary atonement of Christ, and His bodily resurrection. He preached a social message and apparently said nothing about or spurned the message of personal salvation from sin. I have been at a loss to account for the hospitality shown to Dr. King at many conservative religious meetings. Most serious doctrinal compromise seemed to me to have been involved.

Many of our great cities, most conspicuously the nation's capital, were swept with riots after word was received of Dr. King's assassination. Were these spontaneous expressions of grief and rage? Not that the riots would thus have been justified. Not grief and rage but an almost lighthearted taking advantage of an emotional crisis is the story of these riots. Well dressed and even substantial people including hundreds of government employees invaded stores laid open by the bricks and bombs of youngsters to help themselves to the goods they contained. For hours looting went on unchecked. And then the fires raged. Stupendous losses were again inflicted upon the business community and Negro residential districts.

The wind has been sown and the whirlwind has been reaped. Martin Luther King is to a great degree responsible for the devastation that has followed his death.

A Scapegoat For The Hungry

NOW THAT a citizen's committee has found that residents of 25 states, including Alabama, suffer from hunger, we await the reaction of the country. We wonder if President Johnson will, indeed, declare the 25 counties mentioned in the report of the Citizens' Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition as in a state of emergency and rush in free food.

But what is more intriguing, we wonder where the blame for the hunger, said to be afflicting 18 million Americans, will finally settle.

The report issued by the citizens' group has placed it on "a political and economic system that spends billions to . . . limit production . . . to guarantee and sustain profits for the producers."

The individual who bears the brunt of the blame, apparently, is Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. The report charges that he turned back money to the Treasury that should have been used to buy food to give the poor.

Now we join every other member of the human race in deploring hunger. No one "likes" it, especially on a personal level. But to blame the Department of Agriculture or the farm program for the existence of hunger is to

The government is in the agriculture business to keep the production of food and fiber stable—and the chief beneficiary of its farm programs is the consumer. For if runaway production were allowed, many farmers would be forced out of the farming business because of further erosion of their profits—which already are scant. Then farming would fall more and more into the hands of the great farm corporations which even now are growing larger. Production then would certainly be regulated, so that the consumer would have to pay a much greater percentage of his income for food than he does now.

And when the Department of Agriculture goes to such lengths to help hungry people that it bypasses local government, as it did in Elmore County, it certainly is not out to victimize the poor.

Running the risk of appearing somewhat cynical about the citizens' board's report, we wonder what it has said that is relevant and new. Even before we heard of the report, we would have guessed that there are hungry people in every state in the nation; the report likely missed some. And, although no one should be allowed to starve, merely giving out food is not the answer to the

Dear [REDACTED]

Your letter of April 25th, with enclosure, has been received.

In response to your inquiries pertaining to the authenticity of Martin Luther King's alleged attendance at a Communist Party training school, information of this nature, whether substantiated or not, cannot be released because of a Department of Justice order regarding all matters of a confidential nature. I can tell you, however, that at a press conference on November 18, 1964, I made the statement that Martin Luther King was the most notorious liar in the country. I did so because he had grossly distorted the facts concerning our Special Agents handling civil rights investigations in the South.

With respect to your question relating to the newspaper you mentioned, this Bureau is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, neither makes evaluations nor draws conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual.

You may wish to secure a copy of "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications," prepared and released by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. In it are listed some of the groups and periodicals which have been cited by various state and Federal agencies, and a copy of it can be purchased for seventy cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office,

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is a copy of a bulletin, that I received through distribution, in reference to the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. This bulletin reveals some alleged activities, associations, affiliations and statements that he made. It also includes a statement that you made to the public. The forementioned articles were supposedly published in the "Augusta Courier".

Dr. King had developed the image that he believed in peace and non-violence to the American public and that he was not out to overthrow the American government and its ideals of democracy. Therefore, could you please answer or make comment on the following questions for I am a little confused:

1. Is the Committee to Expose Martin Luther King, Jr. a legitimate organization, and who are its members?
2. Is the "Augusta Courier" a reputable newspaper?
3. Are the facts in this bulletin accurate and correct?
4. Was Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. associated with or a member of a subversive organization?
5. Are your statements in the bulletin true?
6. Can your department send me some information on the following topics:
 - a. The subversive organizations in the United States.
 - b. How can a citizen determine if literature is published by a subversive group?
 - c. How can a citizen recognize a subversive individual and how do they operate?
 - d. If a citizen suspects that there is a subversive individual within the community, what can he do about it?

Your reply to the forementioned inquiries would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you,

MARTIN LUTHER KING....AT COMMUNIST TRAINING SCHOOL

The above picture was made by an employee of the State of Georgia, at the Highlander Folk School in Monteagle, Tennessee during the Labor Day week-end of 1957. The photographer was sent to the Highlander Folk School by the Georgia Commission on Education. The Highlander Folk School was abolished by an act of the Legislature of the State of Tennessee at a later date because it was charged with being a subversive organization.

Those numbered in the picture are:

1. Martin Luther King, Jr., of the Montgomery boycott and the Birmingham riots. Karl Prussion, a counterspy for the FBI for twenty-two years, charges that Martin Luther King belongs to sixty Communist-front organizations — more than any Communist in the United States.
2. Abner W. Berry of the Central Committee of the Communist Party.
3. Aubrey Williams, President of the Southern Conference Education Fund, Inc., The Transmission Belt in the South for the Communist Party.
4. Myles Horton, Director of Highlander Folk School for Communist Training, Monteagle, Tennessee.

These "Four Horsemen" of racial agitation have brought tension, disturbance, strife and violence in their advancement of the Communist doctrine of "racial nationalism."

COMMITTEE TO EXPOSE MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.
Box 52, Garrison, Maryland

MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., THE "FIDEL CASTRO" OF THE RACIAL REVOLUTION?

The controlled press and the "liberal" clergy that promoted Fidel Castro as the "George Washington of Cuba", have promoted Martin Luther King, Jr. as a "Great American". The Communistic Background and associates of Fidel Castro, who betrayed the Cuban people into Communist tyranny, provide an alarming comparison with the background and associates of the Nobel Prize Winner, Martin Luther King, Jr.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has stated in its official report that it is a Communist goal "to weaken the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to discredit it's great director, J. Edgar Hoover..." A recent local example of this was the distribution of petitions attacking the FBI and calling for the replacement of Mr. Hoover as Director of the FBI at the speech of Martin Luther King, Jr., Jan. 11, 1965 on the Johns Hopkins University campus.

In response to attacks against the FBI by Martin Luther King, Jr., Mr. Hoover stated, "In view of King's attitude and his continued criticism of the FBI on this point, I consider King to be the most notorious liar in the country".

FBI Director, J. Edgar Hoover, showed remarkable restraint during his recent controversy with integration leader, Martin Luther King, Jr. The nation's top law enforcement officer refrained from citing King's record of affiliation with pro-Communist activities such as:-

*King has urged publicly that several identified Communists be freed from prison. He signed a 1960 appeal for clemency for convicted atom spy, Morton Sobell and in 1961 urged that Carl Braden and Frank Wilkinson be freed from prison. The two, both of whom have been identified as Communists, had been convicted of contempt of Congress.

*Later that year, King signed a petition urging freedom for Junius Scales, a North Carolina Communist who had been convicted under the Smith Act. Scales claimed to have renounced Communism, but he firmly refused to cooperate with the FBI.

*King's Administrative Assistant, the Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, an ex-convict, is President of the Southern Conference Educational Fund, a group listed by Senate probers as a Communist front.

*The St. Louis Globe-Democrat in October, 1962 revealed that a "Communist has infiltrated to the top administrative post" in King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference. The paper identified the Party operative as Jack O'Dell, and revealed that he was the group's acting executive director for the Southeastern United States. O'Dell had been identified under oath as a Communist and had taken the Fifth Amendment when questioned about Communist Party activities by two Congressional Committees. Embarrassed by the publicity, King fired O'Dell in June, 1963. King, according to liberal columnish Joseph Alsop, continued to accept Communist advice. In a column published April 15, 1964 in the Washington Post, Alsop wrote:-

"Official warnings have been given to King about another, even more important figure in the covert apparatus of the Communist Party. After the warnings, King broke off his open connections with the man, but a second-hand connection nonetheless continues."

Dear Mr. Hoover:

DATE 2-10-81 BY SP4JAM/IL

For many years I have had great respect for you, and the work that you have done for our Country. I have quoted you on many occasions from the pulpit. Now I feel that I need some help and I am writing to the one, whom I feel is in position to help the most, and actually you, the one that I have more respect for than any one in our Government in Washington.

The problem that I need help on or should I say the one, is Martin Luther King, Jr. I find that many people according to my deep convictions, are sincerely wrong, when they build up this man as a great leader for the American Negro. I feel that he must be a tool or has been a tool used mainly to stir up trouble in our Country.

In thinking about Dr. King, I remember that on one occasion you made the statement that he was "the most notorious liar in the country". This I believe, but do not have any way of just knowing the true facts, so that others could be led to believe as I do.

Would you please send me what information that you could to let me know upon what basis you were able to make the above statement. Be assured that any help will certainly be appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Just voicing my opinion, I like million of others think its a waste of time to hunt for the killer of Dr.
Martin Luther King Jr. Its a belief if you looked across the police force you would find him right away. What the use of searching for the fictitious Mr. Galt or Mr.
Ray et al.? What a laugh!

On second thought, how can you ^{find} this assassin when you have not been able to find the killer of the four little girls of Alabama in 1963.

I hope you don't devote much time searching for him lest it be in vain.

The conspiracy has struck again. Long live the

Dear Sirs:

I have been in the process of researching for some time now, for the preparation of writing a book.

I am seeking additional information for this reason.

There have been numerous articles and editorials stating that Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. has been, was, at the time of his assassination, or was an affiliate of numerous communist organizations. If he was a communist, or, was affiliated with communist organizations, I should like to have definite proof and the list of organizations that he belonged to.

If the Bureau could supply me with this information, it would be deeply appreciated. The Federal Bureau is the only place that I can procure this information.

Thank you very much for your help.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Please assist us in settling an extensive discussion concerning Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and his political affiliations.

We considered him a Communist from all his many contacts with people of questionable stature.

We had a copy of the Congressional Record, which indicated this a few years back.

We would greatly appreciate your comments.

Sincerely yours,

New Haven, Indiana 46754

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Hoover:

I am enclosing a letter which, as you see,
carries the suggestion that "someone should pop him off" in reference to Dr. Martin Luther King.

The person who wrote this probably has no more to do with the assassination than you or I.

Nonetheless, I am sending this to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for that agency to make of this communication what it can.

Sincerely,

It was refreshing to read your column about jackie kennedy sick and tired of reading about this woman all she does is go from place to place having a damn good time .she loves the limelight and will do most anything to get into the papers and news . god forbid that bob kennedy gets to be the president then the country will be run by the whole family we are tired of the lot of them . her brother is ^{all} talking about the poor but he does nothing then they have millions ?why dont they build a home for orphans or do something worth while . and why does he make a freak out of himself with his hair looks like a woman with the way he lets it grow. I think nixon will make a resident . he would put these colored people in there place .the white folk tired of being pushed around by ~~that~~ martin king. someone should pop him off .
is a coward he runs when theres shooting .the men and women in this country have enough problems with a war going on and the high price of living .
these black demons causing all the trouble in our citys and towns .and away with it .if they let them get away with stuff like that in washington they as well give up .

Sincerely a regular reader of your column.

Martin Luther King, Jr.;
Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)
Racial Matters

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, ascertained on April 19, 1968, that, on that date, Tom Offenberger, who is associated with the SCLC, Atlanta, Georgia, and Stanley Levison discussed the problems involved in controlling the rash of pictures, books and recordings of the speeches of Martin Luther King, Jr., which have been issued commercially since his death. Levison noted that a number of unauthorized books or booklets had been published and asserted they would track them down in an attempt to get something out of them. He revealed that he has concentrated on areas where he feels there is real money that will safeguard the organization (SCLC) or Coretta (King's wife). Levison emphasized that a book to be written by Coretta King is of central importance to her and that this must be a clear understanding among SCLC staff members, as well as those people who were close to King, that they are not to write any books about King prior to the publication of Coretta's book. He said that Harry Belafonte is going to ask everyone on the SCLC staff to agree in writing on this point. BT

Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)

Levison mentioned that there are three projects under consideration on behalf of the organization (SCLC); one, a New York Madison Square Garden meeting in late May, two, a dinner to be held earlier of "big well-heeled people whom we feel might really give us big contributions" and three, a plan to solicit paintings from major artists which the SCLC could exhibit and then auction off. (S)

Levison revealed that advertisements for contributions to the (King) Memorial Fund which he had placed under Harry Belafonte's name had resulted in receipts much less than had been anticipated. (S)

Levison and Offenberger discussed the long-range approach of future fund-raising efforts of the SCLC. Levison opined that they would have to proceed on a membership basis in the Negro community and should utilize this moment to campaign for membership using the slogan "A Million to Replace One". Offenberger demurred at the idea of such a campaign but Levison pointed out that the fund-raising which has sustained the organization over the years was based upon King's unique personality, whereas the personality of Ralph Abernathy is as ill-suited to the donors we have as you could possibly find. He described these donors as white middle-class intellectual. He contended that these individuals needed a Martin Luther King and, while one might get by with a Coretta King as a successor, "you can't get by with somebody who is not an intellectual". (S)

Levison estimated that as much as 75% of their list of contributors might be lost as a result of the change in leadership of the SCLC. He said the answer is to go where the new leadership has appeal, the (Negro) church community where it would be possible to build a membership at the present time. Levison stated that the SCLC should have gotten its income from the Negroes, in the first instance, and not the white people and was thus on the wrong basis all along. (S)

Levison noted that the SCLC was co-sponsoring a conference in New York City on Monday (April 22, 1968) with the Institute for New Careers to discuss the legislative program they should be pursuing. He said the purpose of the conference would be to register their dissatisfaction with legislation already passed as "empty and utterly inadequate". Levison strongly recommended that Andrew Young (Executive Vice President of the SCLC) be advised of the conference and arrange to attend it as the SCLC representative. (S)

(Regarding the meeting scheduled for New York City on April 22, 1968, the source previously advised that Stanley Levison had mentioned that a Dr. Frank Reisman (Phonetic) wanted to hold a conference of organizations with the SCLC as a co-sponsor. He described Reisman as a neutral figure and as the head of an institute on new careers for Negroes of a quasi-professional nature which would involve assistants to doctors, teachers and professional men.) (S)

Levison, mentioned that Ralph Abernathy had received an invitation to speak before the convention of the Women's Business and Professional Clubs in Huntington, Long Island, New York at the end of May 1968, and stressed that he should attend this convention. He identified this organization as the second largest Negro women's organization in the country. (S)

Levison reiterated comments he had made previously that Coretta King should not be subjected to too many interviews and should be careful of her public image. He said he is very much opposed to a lot of publicity at the present time. (S)

He noted that the book division of "Ebony" Magazine wants to print some extracts but that this has to go through himself, Harry Belafonte and Joan Davis, a publisher's representative. Levison said he wanted to be sure that "we" control all the things which can mean some money and which they can do themselves. (S)

Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)

Offenberger inquired about Abernathy appearing on "Face the Nation" and Levison said he was against it and that "Meet the Press" is worse. He said that "Issues and Answers" might be alright because in a "one on one situation" he (Abernathy) could handle himself. Levison added that they would cut Abernathy to pieces on "Meet the Press" and that on "Face the Nation" he might trip himself up. Levison said he would like to see Abernathy "hook onto" his own image as a militant, simple, straightforward person which he would negate by trying to be an intellectual on "Face the Nation" and getting tripped up. He said Abernathy is doing very well in creating the image of a person who is undaunted and is as fearless as King was. He commented that this can be extremely positive and that if Abernathy never emerges as an intellectual it would not matter. (S)

Levison and Offenberger also discussed the opening of the SCLC's Poor People's Campaign on April 29, 1968, in Washington, D.C. Offenberger noted that, after a ceremony on May 2, 1968, at the Lorraine Motel in Memphis, Tennessee, where King was shot, there will be a march to Marks, Mississippi to "pack up the people in Marks and get the mule train going". Offenberger noted that the Southern leg (of the march to Washington for the Poor People's Campaign), the Boston leg and the Chicago leg all start within a week. He stated that Bevel (Reverend James Bevel of the SCLC) was going to Memphis at once. (S)

Offenberger, apparently alluding to Washington, D.C., mentioned the "shantytown will start going up" about May 13, that lumber and materials will be assembled beforehand "and you just kind of put the thing together". He said that by the end of the week (week ending May 18, 1968) people will be coming in from the different "wings" (of the march). (S)

On 4/19/68 SA [REDACTED] contacted [REDACTED] at the captioned address and acknowledged receipt of her letter to Mr. HOOVER, thanking her for her kind comments and prayers.

An inquiry was made of [REDACTED] as to the identification of the lady who had told her that her brother "was FBI and that they had a file on him and his SCLC." [REDACTED] stated she was in the basement of Newberry's Five and Ten in Pomona, California a day or two after the murder of Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING and was standing in the check-out line of that store. There were several people in the check-out line and everyone was talking about the murder of Dr. KING. One of the ladies in the line, whose identity is unknown to her, made the above statement. She stated she is unable to identify the person making this statement.

The Agents of the Pomona Resident Agency are unaware of any sister of an FBI Agent residing in Pomona, California.

In view of the above, no further inquiry would appear warranted and no further action will be taken.

OBJECTS TO TEACHERS PRAISING DR. KING

Editor,
The News-Palladium:

Four of my children were told by their teachers—in the St. Joseph schools—that the "Reverend" Martin Luther King was a great American. Do these teachers not remember that J. Edgar Hoover called "Reverend" King "the most notorious liar in the country"?

Is it not known that the "Reverend" King closely associated himself with Communists and ex-convicts in his Southern

2) Christian Leadership conference, and opposed efforts to remove them by concerned persons? Don't they care that

3) Carl Prussian—for 22 years a counterspy for the F.B.I.—said that Mr. King belonged to 60 Communist-front organizations, more than any American Communist?

I don't care to heap stones on anyone's grave, but I do wish that my children would be spared such misstatements of fact by people who should certainly know better.

What this country seems to need most are more schools where the Bible is taught, where prayers are raised, where ruffians are disciplined, and where patriotism is fostered.

We tired taxpayers might well vote for 15 (or more) mills of this kind of education, but we should revolt when demagogues are praised.

BILL WEIDLICH

Dear Sir,

I hope you are not searching to diligently for the killer of M.L. King. I also hope that if pick up a suspect that he will be treated as a suspect until proven otherwise and that he will not be exposed to snipers as was the man that shot Kennedy.

King was a rabble rouser and every where he went there were riots, looting, blood shed and arson. How long can this continue? We shoot the looters out here, that law has been on the books for long time and should stay there. I'm sorry for Mayor Daley.

I hope he sticks to his guns. Of course if a white looter gets shot he had it coming, but if a black man is even thrown into the paddy wagon the wrong way, discrimination. If our Indians marched on Washington they would be mowed down like grass. I live just about forty miles south of Gary and we expect them. The white people who live near the colored neighborhoods in Gary have their windows barred on the first floor apartments and a lot of the men who live out here and work in the Gary mills are quitting. I have talked to them and they conditions are deplorable. The colored they are hiring now won't work and can't be fired. Now they are talking of building a roof over the expressway thru Chicago at a great cost of tax payers.

On April 24, 1968, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that, on that date, Martin Peretz, told Stanley Levison that he is very interested in having Coretta King (wife of the deceased head of the SCLC, Martin Luther King, Jr.) address the senior class of Harvard University at class-day exercises, June 12, 1968. Peretz feels that Harvard is about to make a big leap in Negro education. He said that he had spoken to Coretta King but that she told him she would have to check with Levison and Andrew Young (Executive Vice-President of the SCLC, (S))

Levison assured Peretz that he would urge Coretta King to accept the Harvard engagement. (S)

Peretz, according to the source, inquired as to who does the speech writing for Coretta King and Levison informed him that he and Andrew Young write her speeches. Peretz stated that he would send some notes to Levison and Young to help in preparing Coretta's address. (S) friend of his attended a meeting of one of the service groups at which an FBI Agent spoke. There was discussion at this meeting concerning MARTIN LUTHER KING but so far as he knew, the FBI Agent was not involved in the discussion.

██████████ has read several articles in the press and has heard commentaries on radio and television which indicate to him that KING did have sympathies with leftist groups.

██████████ said he has never been a letter writer but the activities of dissenters and rioters have aroused him. He has always been a great admirer of the Director and the FBI and this was why he wrote to the FBI.

██████████ said he became particularly incensed when a group of protestors led by a Protestant Minister decided they were going to picket St. Joseph's Cathedral in Buffalo and also demonstrate in Forest Lawn Cemetery by the graves of American Veterans. He is a Catholic and called ██████████ and asked him why he had singled out the leading Catholic church in Buffalo. He also called Forest Lawn Cemetery, the American Legion, and the V.F.W. to protest this desecration of the graves of American Veterans. b7(c)

██████████ expressed concern that the publicity given the dissenters and protestors, together with their total disregard for the laws and rights of others, was having undue influence on American youth. He has been active in youth groups and feels they may believe disrespect for the law is a badge of distinction.

██████████ again expressed great admiration for the Director and said the FBI is one of the great bulwarks of American freedom and it gave him great confidence to know the FBI does exist.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

The enclosed clipping, which appeared in the Buffalo Evening News on April 11th shocked me.

I wish to protest (since that seems to be the fad these days) the fact that this man is free to run around the country preaching anarchy, subversion and down-right treason.

Like many of my friends I am deeply shocked and disturbed over what is happening to our precious country. I am sick of protest movements, unpatriotic bums and defectors.

But more than that I am alarmed that our country has almost reached that state bordering on an overthrow. Our military forces are spread out so thin, home reserves so low in numbers and local police unable to perform their duties of law enforcement due to ridiculous restrictions. I shudder to think of what can happen in the near future.

One of your FBI men, in an unofficial conversation, told a group of businessmen that Martin Luther King was a known Communist or fellow traveler. A talk by King in a New York Church last year, plainly backed that statement up. If this be true, then I feel the public should know the facts.

Mr. Hoover, the nation has always looked to you and your organization as safeguards of our freedoms. Please sir, try to do something about these people before it is too late.

Sincerely yours,

War Resisters Now Turning To Anti-Racism, Ferber Says

"Resistance" leader Michael Ferber said Wednesday evening the group "almost overnight turned from an anti-war movement to an anti-racism," movement as well, when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was killed.

The "resistance" is composed of people who oppose the Vietnam war and the military draft system. The loosely-knit movement had adherents in many communities.

Mr. Ferber, a Buffalonian attending Harvard graduate school, addressed 50 persons at a meeting, called by the Clergy & Laymen Concerned about Vietnam, in Plymouth Methodist Church, 453 Porter Ave.

He said the "resistance" is nonviolent but the Boston group in which he is active has 200 (persons) ready to "do what we can," including, "physically blocking" federal troops trying to enter riot-torn areas.

Mr. Gerber, who said he has turned in his draft registration card and has tried unsuccessfully several times to be classed as a conscientious objector, denounced most of "white America" who mourned for Dr. King.

"Most of white America who mourned for King did so not only hypocritically but obscenely," Mr. Gerber said. "Most mourned because they were scared."

He said the "resistance" is seeking ways to aid Negroes in ghettos.

"We need white doctors who will risk their licenses by not reporting gunshot wounds and white lawyers who will provide legal counsel working without pay. Legislation is simply not enough," Mr. Ferber declared.

"We are setting up seminars on what to do when the ghetto rioters go out to the suburbs," he added.

The Rev. Kenneth E. Sherman, chairman of Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam, said members began a fast at sundown Wednesday to last until tomorrow evening, when the group will attend services and dine together.

ADVISED BY SLIP(S) OF DATE 5-1-78 CAS

Martin Luther King, Jr.;
Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)
Racial Matters

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, learned on April 19, 1968, that on that date, Frank Reisman (Phonetic) (head of an institute on new careers for Negroes) contacted Stanley Levison concerning a conference which his institute and the SCLC were co-sponsoring on April 22, 1968, in New York City. Levison assured him that Andrew Young (Executive Vice President of SCLC) would attend and Reisman inquired if Young would chair this conference. Levison said Young would not serve as chairman, that he feels Young should be free to participate more in the meeting, that Young has a role to play in clarifying the SCLC's approach. Reisman stated that (Floyd) McKissick (Phonetic) (National Director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE)), (James) Farmer (Phonetic) (former National Director of CORE), Dorothy Height (Phonetic) (President of the National Council of Negro Women), Jack Conway (Phonetic), and Lyle Carter (Phonetic) of the Urban Coalition had been invited and will attend. He added that (Roy) Wilkins (President of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) (NAACP) would have a representative present. He noted that (Joseph) Rauh (Phonetic) (National Chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action) had been invited but did not indicate that Rauh had accepted. Reisman pointed out that they were going for a legislative "thing" and that there are problems that require a strong chairman with such a group. He said it was important that they come out of this meeting with some legislative strategy and some program. (S)

Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC)

The source also learned on April 19, 1968, that, on that date, Andrew Young and Stanley Levison discussed an article, which the source could not identify, to be done by "Look" Magazine, apparently about Young. Young said he told a representative of "Look" that he expected to see Levison on April 22, 1968, and that he, Young, would work out an arrangement so they could get together with this representative. Levison stated that it is possible an article of this type will be widely quoted and should be right. He said it would push Young forward in the intellectual role. (S)

Levison advised Young that the American Jewish Congress (AJC) had offered to pay Young $500.00 to speak at this convention and that he, Levison, said the AJC could have Young for this price. He said that, therefore, they had the conference on April 22, 1968, the meeting with the "Look" representative and that Young should also put the AJC convention, about the middle of May, on his schedule. (S)

Levison expressed to Young his feelings about the future fund-raising and base for the SCLC. He said the direct mailing (of fund-appeals) will suffer because it is too white and that they should, therefore, go for more Negro membership with a slogan like "A Million to Replace One". Young agreed and added that he believes they should give up the thought of controlling Martin Luther King's image and "just let it go". Levison stated that one thing they are doing it for is money. (S)

Subsequently, on April 19, 1968, Andrew Young contacted Levison's wife who stated that Levison had left a message for Young concerning the April 22, 1968, conference. The message was that it was shaping up as having a large representation which will be more black than white and that Levison thought it would be worthwhile if Ralph Abernathy (Head of the SCLC) attended with Young. Levison also wanted to know what Young's thought was on having Wyatt Walker (former assistant to Martin Luther King) serve as Chairman. Young told Mrs. Levison that he favored Walter Fauntroy (formerly Director of the Washington Bureau of the SCLC). (S)

On April 20, 1968, the source learned that Clarence Jones contacted Levison on that date and advised Levison that he had been called by (Senator Eugene) McCarthy people about an invitation they want to extend to Coretta King to attend a rally in Madison Square Garden on May 19, 1968, not for her endorsement of McCarthy, but because there are going to be two fund-raising campaigns in Madison Square Garden, one for McCarthy and another to raise funds for the Poor People's Campaign. Jones said the McCarthy people feel 20,000 people will attend his rally and that each would give $1.00 for the campaign and that if Coretta could not attend, then someone like Harry Belafonte might be able to do it. Levison stated that Coretta King was not going to endorse either Senator Kennedy or Senator McCarthy at the present time. He said they (the SCLC) are going to have a meeting in Madison Square Garden on May 28, 1968, and he feels there is a danger of Coretta getting overexposed. Jones claimed that he was getting pressure on the invitation to Coretta King and Levison stated he would be talking to Young and Abernathy over the weekend and would let Jones know. (S)

Later the same date, Levison and Harry Belafonte discussed a book to be written by Coretta King. Levison said that a publisher named Holt has offered $750,000 and all they want is assurance that it will be a book they will be willing to invest in, a human story not a personal one, something like "My Life With Martin King". Levison said it had to be kept secret because if it gets publicity people will think Coretta is rich. He added that "McCall's" Magazine wants to have the serial rights and they will pay $75,000 which is part of the $750,000. Levison noted that Joan Davis, a publisher's representative, is presently in Atlanta with Coretta King and that two representatives of Henry Holt would be in Atlanta on Monday (April 22, 1968) to see Coretta. (S)

Belafonte commented on a gathering, which he did not identify, which was attended by 12 to 15,000 people where Ralph Abernathy spoke. He said they raised about $80,000 which netted about $65,000. (S)

Belafonte and Levison also discussed how to handle unauthorized solicitations on behalf of the SCLC fund and the King memorial. (S)

On the same date, Joan Davis suggested to Levison that he should be making notes on King since he is the only person who knew him intimately and who knows how to write with an autobiography in mind. They also discussed Davis' coming interview with Coretta King and agreed that Davis is to stress that all of Coretta's time for the next few months should be devoted to completing the book. It was stated that contracts will be handled by a specialist in literary law who will be obtained by Levison. Levison noted that if representatives from Holt publishers go to Atlanta, he would be available to go also on either April 22 or 23, 1968. (S)

Subsequently, Levison discussed with Frank Reisman (Phonetic), Andrew Young's suggestion that Walter Fauntroy be the Chairman of the April 22 conference. Levison referred to Fauntroy as the Vice Mayor of Washington, D.C. Reisman noted that Fauntroy had not been invited but accepted the suggestion and asked Levison to contact him. (S)

On April 21, 1968, the source learned that Walter Fauntroy accepted the invitation to chair the meeting of April 22, in New York City. Levison stated that the meeting would be held at the Carnegie International Center, 345 East 46th Street, New York City and that the purpose of the meeting is to formulate a legislative program for the "March on Washington" (Poor People's Campaign). He said that specifically they would work on the parts dealing with jobs, housing, education and adequate income. He noted that Young and Abernathy would attend the meeting. (S)

On the same date, Levison told Joan Davis that he strongly advised against filing an injunction against Grosset and Dunlap (for publishing an unauthorized book on Martin Luther King) because of all the publicity it would involve. Davis did not feel the publicity would hurt Coretta King but Levison disagreed stating his advice to Coretta would be to "bluff and sign a settlement, avoid any type of publicity". (S)

The source subsequently advised that on the same date, Levison received a request from Coretta King to come to Atlanta in connection with arrangements for her forthcoming book. He agreed and made flight arrangements for himself as well as for two persons from Holt publishers. (S)

Dear Mr. Hoover:

About one year ago I had the opportunity to attend a public meeting in which the speaker was a Negro lady who claimed that she had worked as an undercover agent for the FBI. Her comments regarding Dr. Martin Luther King were far from complimentary in that she felt that he had some very definite ties with the Communist Party.

100-106670

I would appreciate receiving a letter from you indicating to your knowledge the association Dr. Martin King might have had with the Communist Party. From time to time I have heard from other sources of his sympathy towards Communism, and I would appreciate some type of an official explanation from you folks.

Sincerely,

Enclosed are two copies of a self-explanatory letter from captioned individual on whom there is no record in Bureau files.

Unless there is some reason in your files for not so doing, you should have a mature, experienced Agent immediately contact correspondent, acknowledge receipt of her letter and thank her for her kind comments regarding my work as well as her prayers.

In addition, it should be ascertained from her the identity of the lady who reportedly has a brother in the FBI and particularly the identity of this alleged employee. If it is necessary, the lady to whom she refers should be contacted for this information.

If it is determined that a Bureau employee is involved and he is assigned to your office, he should be appropriately interviewed, a signed statement obtained and submitted to the Bureau by airtel together with your recommendations for administrative action if any. If it is determined that a Bureau employee is involved, not assigned to your office, furnish appropriate information to the office of assignment and notify the Bureau.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

As I watch the funeral of Dr. King, I am deeply troubled. These last few days, all anyone talks about, is his death, what it means, the future of our Nation, where are we going?

In talking to one lady she flatly stated, "Well, one more Commie dead" I asked her, what she meant by that, -- said her brother was F. B. I., & that they had a file on him & his S. C. L. C.

Is there any way your office, can ease my mind & I'm sure many others that are disturbed about rumors of this sort.

To me, personally, Dr. King was a man of God, a symbol of the Rights long owed our Negros & other who have so long been denied -- His was a Voice of Love, against the H. Rap Browns, Stokely Carmichael's -- who really scare me.

So, is there any way you can help relax an already upset, nervous country? By some statment, article?

Know you're overworked, understaffed, & up to your ears in our internal problems, so will add your name to my Personal Prayer List, that you will continue in your job safely.

Sincerely,

The Honorable J. Edgar Hoover, Director

Dear Mr. Hoover:

A few days ago I was listening to a radio program over KGO, San Francisco, in which a re-hash of the death of Martin Luther King was taking place, and during the course of the program, the statement was made, "Martin Luther King belonged to 68 Communist Organizations across the country and J. Edgar Hoover says he belonged to numerous other subversive organizations across the country".

Could you tell me if that statement is true and could you also tell me if he was in fact an advocate of the Communist form of government for the United States. Thank you for your kind attention to this inquiry.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

I have heard people say that you felt the Rev. Martin L. King, Jr. was the 'biggest liar' you ever saw, or something to that effect. I did not see the articles nor did these people explain why you felt this to be so. Can you please tell me why you are of this opinion, if you are. If this was just reporting, then please excuse this note and I will know the answer. If you feel he was please write me of your opinion if you can. I am not very informed in actuality for I am not in contact with a great number of people and have to form my opinions by watching news on TV or reading reportings in the news papers. Mr. King has had so great a following that either they are gullible or he had some good qualities.

We of my category have to rely on the officials in our government to keep us informed even if we are exposed to the news reporters every day, we still reserve the right to form our own opinions and I would like very much hear from your office.

Thank you, sincerely

d A Dream...

Special Supplement
The Chicago Sun-Times
April 21, 1968

Biggest of all the public gatherings in which Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was a central figure came in the summer of 1963. The day: Wednesday, Aug. 25. The place: The nation's capital. A quarter of a million people—black and white, of many faiths and from all parts of America—streamed into the city, first to congregations around the Washington Monument, then to file in two massive waves to the Lincoln Memorial a mile away. Most memorable of all the many words spoken on that day were those of Dr. King:

But 100 years later, we must face the tragic fact that the Negro is still not free.

One hundred years later, the Negro lives on a lone island of poverty in the midst of a vast ocean of material prosperity.

By the same we have come to our nation's capital to cash a check. When the architects of our Republic wrote the magnificent words of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, they were signing a promissory note to which every American was to fall heir. This note was a promise that all men would be guaranteed the unalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We have also come to this hallowed spot to remind America of the fierce urgency of now. This is no time to engage in the luxury of cooling off or to take the tranquilizing drug of gradualism. Now is the time to make real the promises of democracy. Now is the time to rise from the dark and desolate valley of segregation to the sunlit path of racial justice. Now is the time to lift our nation from the quicksands of racial intolerance to the solid rock of brotherhood.

It would be fatal for the nation to overlook the urgency of the moment and to underestimate the determination of the Negro. This sweltering summer of the Negro's legitimate discontent will not pass until there is an invigorating autumn of freedom and equality. 1963 is not an end, but a beginning. Those who hope that the Negro needed to blow off steam and will now be content will have a rude awakening if the nation returns to business as usual. There will be neither rest nor tranquility in America until the Negro is granted his citizenship rights. The whirlwinds of revolt will continue to shake the foundations of our nation until the bright day of justice emerges.

But there is something that I must say to my people who stand on the warm threshold which leads into the palace of justice. In the process of gaining our

The marvelous new militancy which has engulfed the Negro community must not lead us to a distrust of all white people, for many of our white brothers, as evidenced by their presence here today, have come to realize that their destiny is tied up with our destiny and their freedom is inextricably bound to our freedom. We cannot walk alone.

And as we walk, we must make the pledge that we shall march ahead. We cannot turn back. There are those who are asking the devotion of civil rights, "When will you be satisfied?"

We can never be satisfied as long as the Negro is the victim of the unpeepable horrors of police brutality.

We can never be satisfied as long as our bodies, heavy with the fatigue of travel, cannot gain lodging in the motels of the highways and the rooms of the cities.

We cannot be satisfied as long as the Negro's basic mobility is from a smaller ghetto to a larger one.

We can never be satisfied as long as a Negro in Mississippi cannot vote and a Negro in New York believes he has nothing for which to vote.

Yes, we are not satisfied, and we will not be here out of great trials and tribulations. Some of you been the veterans of creative suffering. Continue to

to South Carolina, go back to Georgia, go back to Louisiana, go back to the slums and ghettos of our northern cities, knowing that somehow this situation can and will be changed. Let us not wallow in the valley of despair.

I SAY to you today, my friends, that in spite of the difficulties and frustrations of the moment I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream.

I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal."

I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slaveowners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a desert state sweltering with the heat of injustice and oppression, will be transformed into is our hope. This is the faith with which I to the South. With this faith we will be able out the mountains of despair a stone of hope. his faith we will be able to transform the g discords of our nation into a beautiful sym- of brotherhood.

this faith we will be able to work together, to together, to struggle together, to go to jail to- to stand up for freedom together, knowing that I be free one day.

will be the day when all of God's children able to sing with new meaning "My country thee, sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing. Land my fathers died, land of the pilgrim's pride, very mountainside, let freedom ring."

if America is to be a great nation this must true. So let freedom ring from the prodi- althops of New Hampshire. Let freedom ring e mighty mountains of New York. Let freedom ring from the heightening Alleghenies of Pennsyl- vania!

Let freedom ring from the snowcapped Rockies of Colorado!

Let freedom ring from the curvaceous peaks of Cali- fornia!

But not only that; let freedom ring from Stone Mountain of Georgia!

Let freedom ring from every hill and mole hill of Mississippi. From every mountainside, let freedom ring.

When we let freedom ring, when we let it ring from every village and every hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of that old Negro spiritual, "Free at last! Free at last! Thank God almighty, we are free at last!"

an oasis of freedom and justice.

I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

I have a dream today.

I have a dream that one day the state of Alabama, whose government's lips are presently dripping with the words of interposition and nullification, will be transformed into a situation where little black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white girls and walk together as sisters and brothers.

I have a dream today.

I have a dream that one day every valley shall be exalted, every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made plain, and the crooked places will be made straight, and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together.

This is our hope. This is the faith with which I return to the South. With this faith we will be able to hew out the mountain of despair a stone of hope. With this faith we will be able to transform the jangling discords of our nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood.

With this faith we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, to stand up for freedom together, knowing that we will be free one day.

This will be the day when all of God's children will be able to sing with new meaning "My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing. Land where my fathers died, land of the pilgrim's pride, from every mountainside, let freedom ring."

THE hauntingly impressionistic portrait of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on the cover and the striking drawings on these two pages and elsewhere in this section are the work of Franklin McMahon of Lake Forest, the nationally-known artist who unforgettably recorded, in picture and text, many events in the civil rights movement over the last decade.

Of Dr. King's marches in 1965 in Selma and Montgomery, Ala., depicted here, McMahon wrote of the "meaty, rumbling Baptist preacher from the American South . . . who discovered an ancient language of Love drawn from the Judeo-Christian heritage." And he especially noted the racial mixture at these demonstrations: "The wife of one senator and the widow of another showed up one day in the frontlines; an elderly judge from Massachusetts went because his father-in-law had commanded Negro troops in the Civil War."

McMahon carried sketch pad and pencil to other places where Dr. King ventured in his quest for justice and equality. Two events in Chicago pictured here are a civil rights mass meeting at the International Amphitheatre and a peace rally in the Commons. The color drawing on Page 19 was made at Spelman College in Atlanta.

A Gentle Man Of Eloquence

By

DR. MARTIN Luther King's life and work took him into the nation's ghettos and into gilded halls occupied by presidents.

Whatever his surroundings, he remained a man of dignity and rare eloquence.

His death in Memphis ended a career of accomplishments, setbacks and, inevitably, controversy.

He was born Jan. 15, 1929, into the family of a Baptist minister in Atlanta, the first son and second child of his parents.

He had an older sister—a schoolteacher—and a younger brother—also a Baptist clergyman.

Dr. King remained steadfast to his declaration:

"We only make our stand on high moral principles which affect the lives of our people. If this results in violence, accept this."

"Nonviolent protest is the most effective weapon of an oppressed people," Dr. King said on several occasions. In face of every provocation, he counseled against violence. In 1963, during a six-week civil rights siege of Birmingham, Ala., Dr. King remained loyal to his personal philosophy. Insiders said he seldom lost his stoical calm, even when he went for 3½ days virtually without sleep.

It was commonly observed that under a code of iron-to-belief, he remained a gentle man in spite of the whips and scorns of circumstance.

During that period, and later, he never let himself become angry.

Dr. King attended public school in Atlanta, was graduated from Morehouse College there with an A.B. degree, and then took a Bachelor of Divinity degree from Crozer Theological Seminary in Chester, Pa.

After studies at Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania, he entered Boston University and obtained a Ph.D. in systematic theology.

While there, he married Coretta Scott, a pretty co-ed from Selma, Ala.—a community that became world-famous in the Negro civil rights struggle.

Dr. King began his civil rights crusade from the pulpit of Dexter Ave. Church in Montgomery, Ala., in 1955, the year his daughter, Yolande, was born.

Montgomery Negroes boycotted segregated city buses 381 days, touching off bombings of their churches, street attacks by white thugs and mob violence. A court ruling finally desegregated the buses.

A bomb was thrown on the porch of Dr. King's home during that struggle, but it did not detonate.

After his success in Montgomery, the Negro leader returned to Atlanta in 1960 to create the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, of which he was the first president.

Jailed at least five times in Alabama, Dr. King soon landed in a Georgia jail.

DR. MARTIN Luther King's life and work took him into the nation's ghettos and into gilded halls occupied by presidents.

Whatever his surroundings, he remained a man of simple dignity and rare eloquence.

In 1963, during a six-week civil rights siege of Birmingham, Ala., Dr. King remained loyal to his personal philosophy. Insiders said he seldom lost his stoical calm, even when he went for 3½ days virtually without sleep.

It was commonly observed that under a core of iron-tough belief, he remained a gentle man in spite of the whips and scorns of circumstance.

During that period, and later, he never let himself become angry.

Dr. King attended public school in Atlanta, was graduated from Morehouse College there with an A.B. degree, and then took a Bachelor of Divinity degree from Crozer Theological Seminary in Chester, Pa.

After studies at Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania, he entered Boston University and obtained a Ph.D. in systematic theology.

Dr. King began his civil rights crusade from the pulpit of Dexter Av. Church in Montgomery, Ala., in 1955, the year his daughter, Yolande, was born.

Montgomery Negroes boycotted segregated city buses for 381 days, touching off bombings of their churches, street attacks by white thugs and mob violence. A court ruling finally desegregated the buses.

A bomb was thrown on the porch of Dr. King's home during that struggle, but it did not detonate.

After his success in Montgomery, the Negro leader returned to Atlanta in 1960 to create the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, of which he was the first president.

Jailed at least five times in Alabama, Dr. King soon landed in a Georgia jail.

The first time was in October, 1960, when he was jailed for not having a driver's license. Confined at a state prison, Dr. King for the first time found himself in the national political spotlight.

The late John F. Kennedy, campaigning for the Presidency, telephoned Mrs. King. Kennedy's brother Robert, telephoned the judge to inquire about bond. Dr. King was released.

After the 1960 election, Dr. King became involved in a dispute with J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI.

In a rare public speech, Hoover called Dr. King "the most notorious liar in the country." Later he and Dr. King called an amicable conference in Washington.

In 1961, Dr. King joined a large protest against segregation in Albany, Ga., and again went to jail with hundreds of other Negroes.

In April, 1963, Birmingham was the target. And Dr. King went to jail again. But so did more than 2,000 others.

When police dogs and fire hoses were brought into play against demonstrating Negroes, the mass protest movement caught world attention and spread throughout the nation.

Dr. King saw his crusade take on revolutionary proportions.

His philosophy of nonviolence prevailed in Birmingham—when civil authorities feared racial disaster—after a church bombing killed four Negro girls in September, 1963. At a funeral for three of the victims, Dr. King counseled:

"In spite of the darkness of this hour, we must not despair. We must not become bitter. We must not lose faith."

His prose was nearly as eloquent as his life. His "Letter from a Birmingham Jail," written when Dr. King was in jail for demonstration activity in 1963, is justly famous.

"I am in Birmingham," he wrote, "because injustice is here. Moreover . . . I am cognizant of the interrelatedness of all communities and states."

"I cannot sit idly by in Atlanta and not be concerned about what happens in Birmingham. Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere."

"We are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever affects one directly affects all indirectly."

He traveled widely—in Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Among the mementos in his red brick home with its barred windows in Atlanta are a camel seat from Egypt and a small ivory carving of Mahandas K. Gandhi, from whose teachings much of Dr. King's philosophy derived.

He was a constant reader. He relaxed when he could with classical music, preferably Beethoven. And he worked out—again when he had the time—at the local YMCA.

In spite of that reversal, Dr. King went ahead with plans for further protests in that city.

And he did not call off plans for his 225,000-member Poor People's March on Capitol Hill, although he postponed it to April 22.

The purpose of that march, he said, was to "re-establish that the real issue is not violence or nonviolence, but poverty and neglect."

Of the Negroes who regarded Dr. King as their leader, perhaps most of them were from the South—where Dr. King was born and reared.

It was so those Negroes—and to others, too—that he spoke at the massive Negro demonstration for equality at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., on Aug. 28, 1963:

"I have a dream," he cried in his melodious, stirring voice, "that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal."

"I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slave owners will be able to sit down at the table of brotherhood."

"I have a dream that one day, even the state of Mississippi, a state sweltering with the people's injustice, sweltering with the heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice."

"I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character."

Dr. King's father, the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr.—"Daddy" King—co-minister with him of Atlanta's Ebenezer Baptist Church, said of his son:

"He always was manly, even as a child."

Manliness, of a certain rare sort, was the key to Dr. King's personality.

He broke unjust segregation laws and went to jail again and again. And if someone struck him, Dr. King would not return the violence. He returned violence with love, hatred with kindness, scorn with patience.

"You don't have to hate," he told a rally in Louisville.

"If you think I came here to tell you to hate white people, you have the wrong man. Our goal is not to defeat or humiliate the white man but to win his friendship and love."

"Love or perish. Hate is not the answer."

Dr. King always asserted that America's bravest men were the nonviolent "sit-inners" and the protest marchers who defied police clubs and police dogs—and did not hit back.

In this way, he maintained, they show their moral determination and work on the consciences of their oppressors.

Years ago, when he was a schoolboy, a bully punched him. Even then, young Martin did not strike back. When a white woman slapped him in a shop and called him "nigger," Dr. King said nothing.

An American Nazi slapped him on the jaw at a rally in Birmingham, and Dr. King did not return the blow.

Although he professed to having been embarrassed during his youth by the "emotionalism of Negro religion, the shouting and stamping," Dr. King as a preacher was at his best in the crowded Negro churches of the South where the people like to clap their hands, stomp their feet and shout "Amen!"

Dr. King's deep voice, animated by a fierce dedication to his beliefs, created towering images, inspired hope, generated fervor.

"We're through with segregation," he cried.

"Yes, Lord!" came the response.

"We've been cooled off a long!"

"That's right!"

"We're moving up the highway of freedom toward the city of equality and we can't afford to stop now!"

"Amen!"

"Free at last—free at last! Thank God Almighty, we're going to be free at last!"

But beyond the public expressions of hope and the speeches of dreams, Dr. King was always aware of the grim realities he was up against.

In an Albany, Ga., church in 1962, after shots were fired into nearby Negro houses, Dr. King said:

"It may get me crucified. I may even die. But I want it said even if I die in the struggle that 'He died to make men free.'"

Dr. King provided his people with a powerful new weapon, one which had brought freedom for India under Gandhi's leadership.

"Nonviolent protest is the most effective weapon of an oppressed people," was a King maxim.

In 1964, Dr. King received the tangible recognition of his leadership when he was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. The citation said the award was for "consistently asserting the principle of nonviolence."

He was the third Negro, the 12th American and the youngest man ever to receive the award.

In accepting the accolade before a distinguished assembly at Oslo, Dr. King said he accepted the award in behalf of millions of American Negroes striving to "end the long night of racial injustice."

Dr. King's wife underscored the contrasts in her husband's career when she remarked at the time of the honor:

"I wish we could remain on this mountaintop forever. . . . For the past 18 years we have lived with the threat of death always present."

Dr. King, like any visionary, was the object of both praise and scorn. Some said his marches produced violence. Others even said he advocated it.

For his part, Dr. King contended that his nonviolent marches, and demonstrations that sometimes incurred violence, were the only alternative outlet to Negro frustration that otherwise would explode violently.

Early in 1965, when civil rights leaders picketed in Alabama as a testing ground for a concentrated voter registration drive, Dr. King and his followers resorted once more to the tactics of nonviolence that had served his cause effectively on previous occasions in that state.

At Selma, focal point in an area where Negroes outnumbered whites but few had ever registered to vote, Dr. King personally led street demonstrations in support of Negro voter applicants.

"We are going to march through the streets until every Negro can vote," he declared.

And march they did. They marched despite court injunctions, police resistance, shootings, beatings, tear gas and other violence that turned the central Alabama city into a center of racial antagonism.

More than 3,000 Negroes—including Dr. King—were arrested during the early stages of the month-long campaign. That was the 17th arrest for the crusading minister.

He led the historic march from Selma to Montgomery, the state capital, which swelled with thousands of supporters from around the nation.

In early summer, 1964, Dr. King was jailed for engaging in a sit-in demonstration during a period of racial turmoil at St. Augustine, Fla.

Several weeks later, he undertook a good-will mission to New York City after serious outbreaks of rioting in Harlem, Brooklyn and Rochester.

Inevitably, too, his name was drawn into the civil rights phase of the presidential campaign between Lyndon B. Johnson and Barry M. Goldwater.

Dr. King endorsed Mr. Johnson only indirectly by rejecting Goldwater's candidacy. On election eve, he issued a repudiation of what he said was a move to promote him as a write-in candidate for President.

Although the origin of the handball campaign was somewhat obscure, Dr. King interpreted it as an effort to nullify the Negro vote.

As the Vietnam War intensified, and as many Americans developed doubts about it, Dr. King spoke out.

He questioned the morality of fighting a war and killing civilians in a war in a distant land while American Negroes at home were still persecuted.

Although he was criticized by many persons—some of them more conservative civil rights leaders—Dr. King continued to express his criticism of the war and directed a lieutenant, the Rev. James Bevel, to co-ordinate a lobbying effort against it.

The threat of death was a constant fact throughout Dr. King's life. By telephone calls to his office, by letter, the threats came.

He was unaware of most of them and he refused a bodyguard and often drove to his office alone.

Dr. King had a certain resignation about this. He accepted it. He lived with it.

One of the setbacks to Dr. King's movement occurred only last week, when a march of 6,000 persons in Memphis ended in a near-riot that left one dead.

In spite of that reversal, Dr. King far further protests in that city.

And he did not call off plans for his People's March on Capitol Hill, also April 22.

The purpose of that march, he said that the real issue is not violence or riot and neglect.

In the spring of 1963, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. went to Birmingham, Ala., to help stage a massive, nonviolent demonstration that would call attention to the complete breakdown of negotiations between whites and Negroes on various desegregation plans. With scores of others, he was arrested and jailed. While in his cell, he read a published statement by eight Alabama clergymen—Christian and Jewish—that criticized his activities as "unwise and untimely." On the margins of the newspaper that carried the statement and on scraps of writing paper, Dr. King composed a stirring reply, here reprinted in part.

April 16, 1963

MY DEAR FELLOW CLERGYMEN:

I AM in Birmingham because injustice is here. Just as the prophets of the eighth century B.C. left their villages and carried their "scrolls" to the Lord far beyond the boundary, so I carry the gospel of freedom beyond my own home town. Like Paul, I must constantly respond to the Macedonian call for aid.

Moreover, I am cognizant of the interrelatedness of all communities and states. I cannot sit idly by in Atlanta and not be concerned about what happens in Birmingham. Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. We are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever affects one directly, affects all indirectly. Never again can we afford to live with the narrow, provincial "outside agitator" idea. Anyone who lives inside the United States can never be considered an outsider anywhere within its bounds.

You deplore the demonstrations taking place in Birmingham. But your statement, I am sorry to say, fails to express a similar concern for the conditions that brought about the demonstrations. I am sure that none of you would want to rest content with the superficial kind of social analysis that deals merely with effects and does not grapple with underlying causes. It is unfortunate that demonstrations are taking place in Birmingham, but it is even more unfortunate that the city's white power structure left the Negro community with no alternative.

You may well ask: "Why direct action? Why sit-ins, marches and so forth? Isn't negotiation a better path?" You are quite right in calling for negotiation. Indeed, this is the very purpose of direct action. Nonviolent direct action seeks to create such a crisis and foster such a tension that a community which has constantly refused to negotiate is forced to confront the issue. It seeks so to dramatize the issue that it can no longer be ignored. My citing the creation of tension as part of the work of the nonviolent resister may sound rather shocking. But I must confess that I am not afraid of the word "tension." I have earnestly opposed violent tension, but there is a type of constructive, nonviolent tension which is necessary for growth.

My friends, I must say to you that we have not made a single gain in civil rights without determined legal and nonviolent pressure. Lamentably, it is an historical fact that privileged groups seldom give up their privileges voluntarily. Individuals may see the moral light and voluntarily give up their unjust posture; but, as Reinhold Niebuhr has reminded us, groups tend to be more immoral than individuals.

We know through painful experience that freedom is never voluntarily given by the oppressor; it must be demanded by the oppressed. Frankly, I have yet to engage in a direct-action campaign that was "well timed" in the view of those who have not suffered unduly from the disease of segregation. For years now I have heard the word "Wait!" It rings in the ear of every Negro with piercing familiarity. This "Wait" has almost always meant "Never." We must come to see, with one of our distinguished jurists, that "justice too long delayed is justice denied."

WE HAVE waited for more than 340 years for our constitutional and God-given rights. The nations of Asia and Africa are moving with jetlike speed toward gaining political independence, but we still creep at horse-and-buggy pace toward gaining a cup of coffee at a lunch counter. Perhaps it is easy for those who have never felt the stinging darts of segregation to say, "Wait."

But when you have seen vicious mobs lynch your mothers and fathers at will and drown your sisters and brothers at whim; when you have seen hate-filled policemen curse, kick and even kill your black brothers and sisters; when you see the vast majority of your twenty million Negro brothers smothering in an airtight cage of poverty in the midst of an affluent society; when you suddenly find your tongue twisted and your speech stammering as you seek to explain to your 6-year-old daughter why she can't go to the public amusement park that has just been advertised on television, and see tears welling up in her eyes when she is told that Funtown is closed to colored children, and see ominous clouds of inferiority beginning to form in her little mental sky, and see her beginning to distort her personality by developing an unconscious bitterness toward white people; when you have to concoct an answer for a 5-year-old son who is asking: "Daddy, why do white people treat colored people so mean?"; when you take a cross-country drive and find it necessary to sleep night after night in the uncomfortable corners of your automobile because no motel will accept you; when you are humiliated day in and day out by nagging signs reading "white" and "colored"; when your first name becomes "nigger," your middle name becomes "boy" (however old you are) and your last name becomes "John," and your wife and mother are never given the respected title "Mrs."; when you are harried by day and haunted by night by the fact that you are a Negro, living constantly at tip-toe stance, never quite knowing what to expect next, and are plagued with inner fears and outer resentments; when you are forever fighting a degenerating sense of "nobodiness"—then you will understand why we find it difficult to wait.

There comes a time when the cup of endurance runs over, and men are no longer willing to be plunged into the abyss of despair. I hope, sir, you can understand our legitimate and unavoidable impatience.

You express a great deal of anxiety over our willingness to break laws. This is certainly a legitimate concern. Since we so diligently urge people to obey the Supreme Court's decision of 1954 outlawing segregation in the public schools, at first glance it may seem rather paradoxical for us consciously to break laws. One may well ask: "How can you advocate breaking some laws and obeying others?" The answer lies in the fact that there are two types of laws: just and unjust. I would be the first to advocate obeying just laws. One has not only a legal but a moral responsibility to disobey unjust laws. I would agree with St. Augustine that "an unjust law is no law at all."

Now, what is the difference between the two? How does one determine whether a law is just or unjust? A just law is a man-made code that squares with the moral law or the law of God. An unjust law is a code that is out of harmony with the moral law. To put it in the terms of St. Thomas Aquinas: An unjust law is a human law that is not rooted in eternal law and natural law. Any law that uplifts human personality is just. Any law that degrades human personality is unjust.

In no sense do I advocate evading or defying the law, as would the rabid segregationist. That would

There comes a time when the cup of endurance runs over, and men are no longer willing to be plunged into the abyss of despair. I hope, sir, you can understand our legitimate and unavoidable impatience.

You express a great deal of anxiety over our willingness to break laws. This is certainly a legitimate concern. Since we so diligently urge people to obey the Supreme Court's decision of 1954 outlawing segregation in the public schools, at first glance it may seem rather paradoxical for us consciously to break laws. One may well ask: "How can you advocate breaking some laws and obeying others?" The answer lies in the fact that there are two types of laws: just and unjust. I would be the first to advocate obeying just laws. One has not only a legal but a moral responsibility to disobey unjust laws. I would agree with St. Augustine that "an unjust law is no law at all."

Now, what is the difference between the two? How does one determine whether a law is just or unjust? A just law is a man-made code that squares with the moral law or the law of God. An unjust law is a code that is out of harmony with the moral law. To put it in the terms of St. Thomas Aquinas: An unjust law is a human law that is not rooted in eternal law and natural law. Any law that uplifts human personality is just. Any law that degrades human personality is unjust.

lead to anarchy. One who breaks an unjust law must do so openly, lovingly, and with a willingness to accept the penalty. I submit that an individual who breaks a law that conscience tells him is unjust, and who willingly accepts the penalty of imprisonment in order to arouse the conscience of the community over its injustice, is in reality expressing the highest respect for law.

We should never forget that everything Adolf Hitler did in Germany was "legal" and everything the Hungarian freedom fighters did in Hungary was "illegal." It was "illegal" to aid and comfort a Jew in Hitler's Germany. Even so, I am sure that, had I lived in Germany at the time, I would have aided and comforted my Jewish brothers. If today I lived in a Communist country where certain principles dear to the Christian faith are suppressed, I would openly advocate disobeying that country's antireligious laws.

I MUST make two honest confessions to you, my Christian and Jewish brothers. First, I must confess that over the past few years I have been gravely disappointed with the white moderate. I have almost reached the regrettable conclusion that the Negro's great stumbling block in his stride toward freedom is not the White Citizen's Council or the Ku Klux Klanner, but the white moderate, who is more devoted to "order" than to justice; who prefers a negative peace which is the absence of tension to a positive peace which is the presence of justice; who constantly says: "I agree with you in the goal you seek, but I cannot agree with your methods of direct action"; who paternalistically believes he can set the timetable for another man's freedom; who lives by a mythical concept of time and who constantly advises the Negro to wait for a "more convenient season." Shallow understanding from people of good will is more frustrating than absolute misunderstanding from people of ill will. Lukewarm acceptance is much more bewildering than outright rejection.

I had hoped that the white moderate would understand that law and order exist for the purpose of establishing justice and that when they fail in this purpose they become the dangerously structured dams that block the flow of social progress.

I had hoped that the white moderate would understand that the present tension in the South is a necessary phase of the transition from an obnoxious negative peace, in which the Negro passively accepted his unjust plight, to a substantive and positive peace, in which all men will respect the dignity and worth of human personality. Actually, we who engage in nonviolent direct action are not the creators of tension. We merely bring to the surface the hidden tension that is already alive. We bring it out in the open, where it can be seen and dealt with. Like a boil that can never be cured so long as it is covered up but must be opened with all its ugliness to the natural medicines of air and light, injustice must be exposed, with all the tension its exposure creates, to the light of human conscience and the air of national opinion before it can be cured.

In your statement you assert that our actions, even though peaceful, must be condemned because they precipitate violence. But is this a logical assertion?

Isn't this like condemning a robbed man because his possession of money precipitated the evil of robbery?

Isn't this like condemning Socrates because his unswerving commitment to truth and his philosophical inquiries precipitated the act by the misguided populace in which they made him drink hemlock?

From Jail

Isn't this like condemning Jesus because his unique Godconsciousness and never-ceasing devotion to God's will precipitated the evil act of crucifixion? . . .

More and more I feel that the people of ill will have used time much more effectively than have the people of good will. We will have to repent in this generation not merely for the hateful words and actions of the bad people but for the appalling silence of the good people. Human progress never rolls in on wheels of inevitability; it comes through the tireless efforts of men willing to be co-workers with God, and without this hard work, time itself becomes an ally of the forces of social stagnation. We must use time creatively, in the knowledge that the time is always ripe to do right.

Now is the time to make real the promise of democracy and transform our pending national elegy into a creative psalm of brotherhood.

Now is the time to lift our national policy from the quicksand of racial injustice to the solid rock of human dignity.

You speak of our activity in Birmingham as extreme. At first I was rather disappointed that fellow clergymen would see my nonviolent efforts as those of an extremist. I began thinking about the fact that I stand in the middle of two opposing forces in the Negro community. One is a force of complacency made up in part of Negroes who, as a result of long years of oppression, are so drained of self-respect and a sense of "somebodiness" that they have adjusted to segregation; and in part of a few middle-class Negroes who, because of a degree of academic and economic security and because in some ways they profit by segregation, have become insensitive to the problems of the masses. The other force is one of bitterness and hatred, and it comes perilously close to advocating violence. It is expressed in the various black nationalist groups that are springing up across the nation, the largest and best-known being Elijah Muhammad's Muslim movement.

Nourished by the Negro's frustration over the continued existence of racial discrimination, this movement is made up of people who have lost faith in America, who have absolutely repudiated Christianity, and who have concluded that the white man is an incorrigible "devil."

I have tried to stand between these two forces, saying that we need emulate neither the "do-nothingism" of the complacent nor the hatred and despair of the black nationalist. For there is the more excellent way of love and nonviolent protest. I am grateful to God that, through the influence of the Negro church, the way of nonviolence became an integral part of our struggle.

If this philosophy had not emerged, by now many streets of the South would, I am convinced, be flowing with blood. And I am further convinced that if our white brothers dismiss us as "rabble-rousers" and "outside agitators" those of us who employ nonviolent direct action, and if they refuse to support our nonviolent efforts, millions of Negroes will, out of frustration and despair, seek solace and security in black-nationalist ideologies—a development that would inevitably lead to a frightening racial nightmare.

Oppressed people cannot remain oppressed forever. The yearning for freedom eventually manifests itself, and that is what has happened to the American Negro. Something within has reminded him of his birthright of freedom, and something without has reminded him that it can be gained.

The Negro has many past uprisings and has many frustrations, and he must release them. He has been marching; let him make prayer pilgrimages to the city hall; let him go on freedom rides—and try to understand why he must do so. If his repressed emotions are not released in nonviolent ways, they will seek expression through violence; this is not a threat but a fact of history.

So I have not said to my people: "Get rid of your discontent." Rather, I have tried to say that this normal and healthy discontent can be channeled into the creative outlet of nonviolent direct action. And now this approach is being termed extremist.

But though I was initially disappointed at being categorized as an extremist, as I continued to think about the matter I gradually gained a measure of satisfaction from the label.

Was not Jesus an extremist for love: "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you."

Was not Amos an extremist for justice: "Let justice roll down like waters and righteousness like an ever-flowing stream."

Was not Paul an extremist for the Christian gospel: "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus."

Was not Martin Luther an extremist: "Here I stand, I cannot do otherwise, so help me God."

And John Bunyan: "I will stay in jail to the end of my days before I make a bargain of my conscience."

And Abraham Lincoln: "This nation cannot survive half slave and half free."

And Thomas Jefferson: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal. . . . So the question is not whether we will be extremists but what kind of extremists we will be.

Will we be extremists for hate or for love? Will we be extremists for the preservation of injustice or for the extension of justice?

LET ME take note of my other major disappointment. I have been so greatly disappointed with the white church and its leadership. Of course, there are some notable exceptions. . . . I do not say this as one of those negative critics who can always find something wrong with the church. I say this as a minister of the gospel, who loves the church; who was nurtured in its bosom; who has been sustained by its spiritual blessings and who will remain true to it as long as the cord of life shall lengthen. . . .

I have heard numerous southern religious leaders admonish their worshipers to comply with a desegregation decision because it is the law, but I have longed to hear white ministers declare: "Follow the decree because integration is morally right and because the Negro is your brother."

In the midst of blatant injustices inflicted upon the Negro, I have watched white churchmen stand on the sideline and mouth pious irrelevancies and sanctimonious trivialities.

In the midst of a mighty struggle to rid our nation of racial and economic injustice, I have heard many ministers say: "Those are social issues, with which the gospel has no real concern." And I have watched many churches commit themselves to a completely other-worldly religion which makes a strange biblical distinction between body and soul, between the sacred and the secular. . . .

In deep disappointment I have wept over the laxity of the church. But be assured that my tears have been tears of love. There can be no deep disappointment where there is not deep love. Yes, I love the church. How could I do otherwise? I am in the rather unky him march; let him make prayer pilgrimages to the city hall; let him go on freedom rides—and try to understand why he must do so. If his repressed emotions are not released in nonviolent ways, they will seek expression through violence; this is not a threat but a fact of history.

So I have not said to my people: "Get rid of your discontent." Rather, I have tried to say that this normal and healthy discontent can be channeled into the creative outlet of nonviolent direct action. And now this approach is being termed extremist.

But though I was initially disappointed at being categorized as an extremist, as I continued to think about the matter I gradually gained a measure of satisfaction from the label.

Was not Jesus an extremist for love: "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you."

Was not Amos an extremist for justice: "Let justice roll down like waters and righteousness like an ever-flowing stream."

Was not Paul an extremist for the Christian gospel: "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus."

Was not Martin Luther an extremist: "Here I stand; I cannot do otherwise, so help me God."

And John Bunyan: "I will stay in jail to the end of my days before I make a butchery of my conscience."

And Abraham Lincoln: "This nation cannot survive half slave and half free."

And Thomas Jefferson: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal. . . . So the question is not whether we will be extremists, but what kind of extremists we will be.

Will we be extremists for hate or for love? Will we be extremists for the preservation of injustice or for the extension of justice?

LET ME take note of my other major disappointment. I have been so greatly disappointed with the white church and its leadership. Of course, there are some notable exceptions. . . . I do not say this as one of those negative critics who can always find something wrong with the church. I say this as a minister of the gospel, who loves the church; who was nurtured in its bosom; who has been sustained by its spiritual blessings and who will remain true to it as long as the cord of life shall lengthen. . . .

I have heard numerous southern religious leaders admonish their worshipers to comply with a desegregation decision because it is the law, but I have longed to hear white ministers declare: "Follow this decree because integration is morally right and because the Negro is your brother."

In the midst of blatant injustices inflicted upon the Negro, I have watched white churchmen stand on the sidelines and mouth pious irrelevancies and sanctimonious trivialities.

In the midst of a mighty struggle to rid our nation of racial and economic injustice, I have heard many ministers say: "These are social issues, with which the gospel has no real concern." And I have watched many churches contrast themselves to a completely other-worldly religion which makes a strange, un-Biblical distinction between body and soul, between the sacred and the secular. . . .

In deep disappointment I have wept over the laxity of the church. But be assured that my tears have been tears of love. There can be no deep disappointment where there is not deep love. Yes, I love the church. How could I do otherwise? I am in the rather unique position of being the son, the grandson and the great-grandson of preachers. Yes, I see the church as the body of Christ. But, oh! How we have blemished and scarred that body through social neglect and through fear of being nonconformists. . . .

I hope the church as a whole will meet the challenge of this decisive hour. But even if the church does not come to the aid of justice, I have no despair about the future. I have no fear about the outcome of our struggle in Birmingham, even if our motives are at present misunderstood. We will reach the goal of freedom in Birmingham and all over the nation, because the goal of America is freedom.

Abused and scorned though we may be, our destiny is tied up with America's destiny. Before the pilgrims landed at Plymouth, we were here. Before the pen of Jefferson etched the majestic words of the Declaration of Independence across the pages of history, we were here. For more than two centuries our forebears labored in this country without wages; they made cotton king; they built the homes of their masters while suffering gross injustice and shameful humiliation—and yet out of a bottomless vitality they continued to thrive and develop.

If the inexpressible cruelties of slavery could not stop us, the opposition we now face will surely fail. We will win our freedom because the sacred heritage of our nation and the eternal will of God are embodied in our echoing demands. . . .

I hope this letter finds you strong in the faith. I also hope that circumstances will soon make it possible for me to meet each of you, not as an integrationist or a civil-rights leader but as a fellow clergyman and a Christian brother.

Let us all hope that the dark clouds of racial prejudice will soon pass away and the deep fog of misunderstanding will be lifted from our fear-drenched communities, and in some not too distant tomorrow the radiant stars of love and brotherhood will shine over our great nation with all their stilling beauty.

Yours for the cause of Peace and Brotherhood,
Martin Luther King, Jr.

Memphis— The Final Moments

By Jimmy Breslin

MEMPHIS—He couldn't find his tie. He went through his black leather suitcase on the bed, a new one, with his initials, M.L.K., on it, and he stopped it short and walked over to the dresser and started going through the pajamas and shirts. He stopped and shook his head. Little things bothered. The big thing he knew all about. But here he was, trying to get dressed for dinner, and he had no tie.

"Somebody on the staff took my tie," he said. "Martin," the Rev. Ralph Abernathy said, "why don't you just look down at that chair?"

"Oh," Martin Luther King said. He picked up a black and gold striped tie from the chair next to the dresser. "I thought somebody took it on me," he said.

He stood in front of a mirror putting on the tie. The Rev. Mr. Abernathy was by the door with the Rev. S. B. Kyle. The Rev. Mr. Kyle is a tall man who is a minister in Memphis. He was having Martin Luther King and the Rev. Mr. Abernathy and others on Dr. King's staff to his house for dinner.

"I think your wife is too young to cook soul food for me," Martin Luther King said to the Rev. Mr. Kyle. "She's only 31, isn't she? How can she cook soul food at that age?"

"That's right," the Rev. Mr. Abernathy said. "We don't want to come over to your house and get that niggon. We want greens. Soul food. Does Gwen know how to cook soul food?"

"Don't you worry," the Rev. Mr. Kyle said.

"This shirt is too tight," Martin Luther King said.

"You mean you're getting too fat," the Rev. Mr. Abernathy said.

"It's too tight," Martin Luther King said.

He looked at himself in the mirror. "All right," he said. He had the tie on and he buttoned the shirt collar. He reached for his jacket and put it on.

The Rev. Mr. Kyle opened the door of Room 301, a double room on the second floor of the motel section of the Lorraine Hotel.

"Why has the community been able to get together and stand behind the sanitation workers?" Dr. King said.

The Rev. Mr. Kyle was standing in the open doorway. "The people in the lower economic group, they just decided to stick together."

"That's wonderful," Martin Luther King said.

block rooms in which Martin Luther King has lived his life. The door to the motel room opened onto a little walkway. The walkway had a railing. The walkway looked down on a parking lot and a small swimming pool which was covered with a green tarpaulin.

Beyond the swimming pool was a narrow street, Mulberry St. And on Mulberry St. there was this wall with trees and bushes growing at the top of the wall and the bare gray branches tangle together and falling over the top of the wall. Behind the trees and bushes was the storm fence of a construction company yard. To the right of that were a pair of two-story brick houses, one of which was empty. The other has a refrigerator on a little porch sticking out from the top floor. But it was dark, and only this tangle of bare branches, a thicket, could be seen.

A Cadillac was parked in the area directly below Martin Luther King. A funeral director had sent a car, and a driver, to take him around for the evening. The driver was Solomon Jones Jr. He was standing with the Rev. Jesse Jackson and the Rev. Andrew Young, Dr. King's assistant, and Ben Branch, who handles music arrangements for Dr. King.

The Rev. Mr. Abernathy was in the motel room, looking for something. The Rev. Mr. Kyle started going along the walkway towards the staircase to the parking lot.

Martin Luther King stood at the railing and looked down. He did not like Memphis. Last Saturday in Atlanta, he had sat in a meeting about Memphis and he had walked out of it and let his assistants decide whether to come back to this city or not. Dr. King was depressed.

Wednesday night, when he came back to town, he gave a speech in which he quoted from a letter he received from a girl in White Plains. The girl said she was glad he didn't smoke when he had a letter opener stuck into his chest in Harlem. Dr. King said he was glad he hadn't smoked because he would have missed so many freedom rides and all his and marches. Then he said:

"I have climbed the mountains and I have seen the promised land." Later, he told his staff, "Some of you may have a worry. Not me. I faced the question of death a long time ago."

Now he stood at the railing and he did not look at this tangle of bare branches across the Street. He looked down at Ben Branch. "I want you to sing for me tonight," he said to Branch. "I want you to do that song for me, 'Precious Lord, Take My Hand.' Sing it real pretty."

"Oh, I will, Martin," Branch said.
"It's cool out," Solomon Jones, the driver, said.
"You better put your topcoat on."

"OK, I will," Martin Luther King said.
His head came down over the railing a little bit while he spoke.

The shot came from the thicket. It caught Martin Luther King on the right side of his face, by the jawbone. It was a .38-caliber bullet and it killed him off his feet and he fell backwards on the cement walkway with his hands over his head and his eyes opened very wide and his life came out of him quickly.

He was 39 and he was a Nobel prize winner and for 14 years he had tried to keep a country from falling apart and now he had been killed by one shot from a rifle. In 1963 a man took three shots at John F. Kennedy and he hit him and killed him with two of them. This country is excellent at assassinations.

Martin Luther King lay on the walkway with it all coming out of him forever. And the first screams of the people of a country in desperate trouble went up.

It was 6 p.m. on Thursday, April 4, 1968. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Nobel prize winner, lay in front of an open green wooden door, with the cheap silver numbers 303 mailed to the door. The door was to a $12-a-month double room in a place called the Lorraine Hotel in Memphis, Tennessee.

He lay with his eyes open very wide and he was looking up at the Rev. Mr. Abernathy. It was an ancient look.

He died officially at 7 p.m. in the emergency room of St. Joseph's Hospital. He was 39 and he had a Nobel Peace Prize and he spent his life trying to help, but very few listened.

"I'd like for somebody to say that day that Martin Luther King Jr. tried to love somebody.

"I want you to say that day that I tried to be right and to walk with them. I want you to be able to say that day that I did try to feed the hungry. I want you to be able to say that day that I did try in my life to clothe the naked. I want you to say on that day that I did try in my life to visit those who were in prison. And I want you to say that I tried to love and serve humankind.

"Yes, if you want to, say that I was a drum major. Say that I was a drum major for justice. Say that I was a drum major for peace. I was a drum major for righteousness.

"And all of the other shallow things will not matter.

"I won't have any money to leave behind. I won't have the fine and luxurious things of life to leave behind. But I just want to leave a conscience like behind.

"And that is all I want to say. If I can help somebody as I pass along. If I can cheer somebody with a well song. If I can show somebody he's travelling wrong, then my living will not be in vain.

"If I can do my duty as a Christian ought. If I can bring salvation to a world once wrought.

"If I can spread the message as the Master taught. Then my living will not be in vain."

"The odd thing about assassins, Dr. King, is that they think they've killed you."

By Prof. George M. Fredrickson

DR. MARTIN Luther King Jr. is dead, a victim of white racism. The full significance of this shattering event is not yet apparent. The nation's emotional response may seem deep and authentic, but there is no evidence that Dr. King's death and the feelings it is generating will have any lasting effect.

Dr. King represented a peaceful and non-violent approach to America's racial dilemma. From the time he emerged to lead the Montgomery bus boycott of 1955-56 until he was shot down in Memphis, he was unyielding in his devotion to peaceful demonstrations; he refused to the end to give in to the counsels of militants who called for black violence in response to white violence.

While some of his supporters saw non-violence as a tactical response to white power and its physical capability of exterminating black is a war of the races, Dr. King believed in nonviolence as a moral and religious imperative. But he also believed that passive resistance would be successful, that it would lead eventually to the achievement of racial equality. This belief constituted an expression of faith in the underlying decency of white America.

Dr. King saw nonviolent demonstrations, peaceful marches, and the refusal to respond in kind to white brutality as effective goods to the white conscience. Starting from the premise that America was both a Christian nation and a nation "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal," Dr. King foresaw the triumph of racial brotherhood as a consequence of the white man's decision to live up to his own ideals and fulfill the demands of his own creed.

There was a time when it was easy to believe that Dr. King was right. From 1963 to 1965, he won a series of victories, culminating in the passage of the two strongest civil rights bills since Reconstruction.

Then something happened. The struggle moved into a new stage, and Dr. King seemed to be left behind. The attainment of minimal civil rights in the South appeased the Northern conscience, but it did not, as it turned out, materially affect the lot of the great mass of black people. The economic and social frustrations of Negroes in the urban ghettos were not only unrelieved, but were actually exacerbated by the movement for integration; hopes were raised but not fulfilled.

Dr. King then attempted to organize non-violent demonstrations against the injustices of the ghettos, especially discrimination in housing, but he ran up against two kinds of opposition which combined to make his efforts largely ineffectual. He confronted an institutionalized white racism, built into the very structure of the Northern urban community, and a growing black militancy which found his philosophy of nonviolence unacceptable.

Northern white racism, unlike that of the South, is not based on an open and flagrant violation of American ideals. It feeds rather on an ambiguity in American values. This country has traditionally given lip service to equality while at the same time sanctioning certain forms of inequality. Individuals and groups are permitted to strive for social and economic prizes which will serve to distinguish them from other individuals and groups. Americans derive their social identity and sense of status from the kinds of neighborhoods in which they live, the schools to which they send their children, and the style of living which they can afford to maintain. Implicit in the desire for a status system is the need for a definable rock-bottom group, to act as a floor for the social hierarchy.

In Northern cities, where one ethnic group after another has moved up in the world, separation from the Negro has become the foundation of white status. The Negro is what one has escaped from, or climbed above, in the process of making it to the bungalow belt or the suburbs. Traditional racial attitudes and stereotypes of course play a role in the choice of the black man as victim. But the status desires of white Northerners, combined with real social and economic degradation of most urban Negroes, legitimates a form of racial discrimination that, on the surface at least, seems qualitatively different from the open

MARTIN Luther King Jr. is dead, a victim of white racism. The full significance of this shattering event is not yet apparent. The nation's emotional response may be deep and authentic, but there is no doubt that Dr. King's death and the feelings generated will have any lasting effect.

King represented a peaceful and non-violent approach to America's racial dilemma. He refused to be used to give in to the demands of militants who called for black violence in response to white violence. Dr. King then attempted to organize non-violent demonstrations against the injustices of the ghetto, especially discrimination in housing, but he ran up against two kinds of opposition which combined to make his efforts largely ineffectual. He confronted an institutionalized white racism, built into the very structure of the Northern urban community, and a growing black militancy which found his philosophy of nonviolence unacceptable.

Northern white racism, unlike that of the South, is not based on an open and flagrant violation of American ideals. It feeds rather on an ambiguity in American values. This country has traditionally given lip service to equality while at the same time sanctioning certain forms of inequality. Individuals and groups are permitted to strive for social and economic prizes which will serve to distinguish them from other individuals and groups. Americans derive their social identity and sense of status from the kinds of neighborhoods in which they live, the schools to which they send their children, and the style of living which they can afford to maintain. Implicit in the desire for a status system is the need for a definable rock-bottom group, to act as a floor for the social hierarchy.

In Northern cities, where one ethnic group after another has moved up in the world, separation from the Negro has become the foundation of white status. The Negro is what one has escaped from, or climbed above, in the process of making it to the bungalow belt or the suburbs. Traditional racial attitudes and stereotypes of course play a role in the choice of the black man as victim. But the status desires of white Northerners, combined with racial and economic degradation of most urban Negroes, legitimize a form of racial discrimination that, on the surface at least, seems qualitatively different from the open violation of political and civil rights which was characteristic of the South under segregation.

Many of the people who were stirred by Dr. King's efforts in the South found his activities in the North unjustified and a threat to the right of property, the sanctity of the neighborhood as a status symbol, or the right of a labor union to determine its own membership. Hence Dr. King failed to stir the conscience of Northern whites on the plight of the ghetto.

He also failed to convince Northern urban Negroes of the applicability of his methods to their problems.

In the South, Dr. King had been organizing a Negro population that had survived through centuries of face-to-face oppression only by developing a remarkable capacity to endure white insults and repress feelings of resentment. The Negro who was likely to be killed on the spot if he resisted or even talked back usually chose life rather than a futile martyrdom. To sustain this kind of response, certain psychological adjustments were necessary, and the Southern Negro evolved an ability to control his emotions which was put to heroic use in the civil rights struggle.

When Dr. King emerged as a leader, preaching passive resistance and love of the white oppressor, he succeeded only because Southern Negroes had learned to control resentment and endure mistreatment at the hands of whites. What gave meaning, first to the endurance of servitude, and later to the nonviolent struggle, was religion — the Christianity which motivated and sustained Martin Luther King Jr.

Northern Negroes not only face a different situation — one in which nonviolent methods may seem unavailing — but they live in a different culture and respond to a different form of oppression.

There is unquestionably a sense of freedom in the ghetto that was lacking in the segregated South. White surveillance is less strict and there is not a constant demand for rituals of submission and humiliation. The white policeman can be a terrible figure, but he does not have the omnipresent power of the Southern plantation owner. This freedom from the continual assertion of white dominance is at best, however, a negative freedom. It does not provide a job, a good education, decent housing, or freedom from police brutality and harassment. It simply allows a more open and aggressive response to white injustice. Negroes who have always had opportunities to vent their feelings about "whiteness" verbally and to some extent physically would not submit readily to the discipline of nonviolence even if it could be shown to be effective. As Kenneth Clark has suggested, Dr. King was asking the psychologically impossible of most Negroes when he asked them to love their white oppressors.

Conscience

It is not surprising then that Dr. King failed to convert Northern Negroes to non-violence. And with the rise of the black power philosophy after 1965, Dr. King came to seem increasingly irrelevant to what was going on among Northern blacks. Today there are signs that Dr. King's approach is losing its hold even in the South. As the South urbanizes, it reproduces the ghetto pattern of the North, and the urban Southern Negro now finds himself in a situation very much like that of the black man in Harlem or the South Side of Chicago. Dr. King's failure, just before his death, to stage a nonviolent demonstration in Memphis suggests that passive resistance may have had its day in the South as well as in the North.

Must we conclude then that Dr. King's dream was an impossible one, and that his demise signifies merely the tragic end of a noble career that had already become peripheral to the American racial confrontation?

If this is true then our situation is sad indeed, because the road ahead is the path to racial war and the possible destruction of American society.

A very strong case could be made to support such a pessimistic view. Societies do not always act to preserve themselves from mortal danger; perhaps the American hope has foundered irrevocably on the problem of race. Martin Luther King Jr. was killed, it must be emphasized, by a white racist, a man who manifested in extreme form what the Kerner commission has recently described as a pervasive American attitude. The murder in Memphis cannot be written off as the isolated act of a fanatic; for it symbolizes Dr. King's failure to convert white America. It is an indication that he had put too much faith in the latent decency of the American people.

There is one final hope, however — the possibility that Dr. King can accomplish through his death what he failed to accomplish in life. Perhaps the shock and remorse resulting from the assassination can lead to a renewed effort to win the victory that Dr. King sought.

On the eve of his death, Dr. King spoke prophetically of himself as having been "to the mountain" to view the promised land that he might never reach himself.

Was this merely the final illusion of a man who was too good for this world, or at least for this country; or is there some hope that a new and meaningful effort to emerge from the wilderness of racial hatred will be America's answer to Dr. King's martyrdom?

For the black community the assassination can have only one meaning. The view that "whites" can't be trusted will gain credence. It will appear that Dr. King died to prove that nonviolence is an invitation to genocide. But what about the white response? Is there any possibility that whites can respond, even at this late hour, in a way that will reverse the tide of events and bring about racial peace and joy?

Some whites, however, as many seem, will feel only a quiet satisfaction that a trouble-maker has been removed from the scene. But it's possible that some of those who disliked Dr. King when he was alive may be having second thoughts as they contemplate the void he has left behind.

But if hope for the future is to come from anywhere it must come from the thought and action of the many white Americans who admired Dr. King, even though, as they may realize now, they failed in their support of him. Many are grief-stricken and conscience-ridden.

The critical question, however, is what, if anything, will they do about it? Will the white people who believe in Dr. King's vision be willing now, in the wake of his death, to make the efforts and sacrifices they failed to make while he was alive?

My answer would be that it can happen, but only if the white liberal community rethinks its relation to the struggle for equality in America.

It is a commonplace now to say that the civil rights movement is dead. And it is dead, if one is thinking of the interracial movement of the early 1950s. A Negro movement exists, but it is increasingly separatist and discourages white participation.

How then is the concerned white man to act on his desire for racial justice? A positive answer to this question has been avoided because white liberals and radicals have either withdrawn from the fray with their feelings hurt by Negro rejection, or have hailed black power and Negro separatism as the only possible way to deal with the racial problem. Many well-intentioned whites, who once responded to Dr. King and his vision, do not see how it is possible to work for racial brotherhood without an interracial movement.

One must begin, surely, with a recognition that there is at present a real separation and breakdown of communication between the races. But for those who believe, like Dr. King, that something better than racial war is possible in America, the proper response cannot be passive acquiescence.

There can be and there must be a new nonviolent movement — not a movement to aid or uplift the Negro, because the black man no longer desires to be aided and uplifted by the whites, but a movement within white America to set its house in order and save itself from the common catastrophe.

The Kerner commission may have established the key note for such a movement by describing white racism as the core of the problem. Why not a white movement against white racism? If an interracial movement is not possible at this time, why should this be?

Most white people have is right?

There can be and there must be a new nonviolent movement—not a movement to aid or uplift the Negro, because the black man no longer desires to be aided and up-lifted by the whites, but a movement within white America to set its house in order and save itself from the common catastrophe.

The Kerner commission may have established the key note for such a movement by describing white racism as the core of the problem. Why not a white movement against white racism? If an interracial movement is not possible at this time, why should this po-vent white people from doing what they be- lieve is right?

One can envision nonviolent demonstrations of whites, operating independently of the Negro community, agitating for open housing, for the implementation of the Kerner commission recommendations, and for other measures that can relieve the situation and establish a basis for racial justice.

The demonstrations and other manifesta- tions of nonviolent pressure would be directed primarily at the racists in the white com- munity, but they might also serve to demon- strate to the Negro community that at least some whites have changed their attitudes. It would prove by independent actions — which is the only way it can now be proved —that white Americans are not all racists. Interracial dialog would perhaps once again develop. The proper response to the slogan of "black power" is neither shocked rejection nor condescending approval; it is to offer the counter-slogan of "white decency" and work to make it a reality.

The only fitting memorial for Martin Lu- ther King, Jr., the only way to ensure that he has not died in vain, is to provide proof of what has not been proved before, that Dr. King was right when he said that white America has a conscience and a sense of justice.

The Challenge

The challenge facing every Negro, in Dr. Martin Luther King's view, was expressed by Langston Hughes in the following poem titled "Mother to Son":

Well, Son, I'll tell you:
Life for me ain't been no crystal stair.
It's had tacks in it,
And splinters,
And boards torn up,
And places with no carpet on the floor—
Bare.
But all the time
I've been a-climbin' on,
And reachin' landin's,
And turnin' corners,
And sometimes goin' in the dark
Where there ain't been no light.
So, boy, don't you turn back.
Don't you set down on the steps
'Cause you finds it kinder hard,
Don't you fall now—
For I'se still goin', honey,
I'se still climbin',
And life for me ain't been no crystal stair.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

This is a very strange request, but I feel that it should be made. Last week one of your former agents was quoted by a well-known businessman in Kentucky. This man was quoted to a group of professional business leaders in our community. I want to make it clear that the former FBI agent who was being quoted was not present.

The gist of the comments revolved around wide-spread personal immorality in the life of Dr. Martin Luther King. Your name was used freely in connection with having a dossier which proves these allegations. I simply want to know if you are in possession of documented evidence of this type of activity. The immorality to which I refer can be interpreted as being sexual in nature.

This request is being submitted by an ordinary citizen. There is no other motive.

Your letter of April 16th has been received.

At a press conference on November 18, 1964, I made the statement that Martin Luther King was the most notorious liar in the country. I did so because he had grossly distorted the facts concerning our Special Agents handling civil rights investigations in the South.

In response to your other inquiries as to whether or not Martin Luther King had any communistic affiliations, information of this nature, whether substantiated or not, cannot be released because of a Department of Justice order regarding all matters of a confidential nature.

The organization was formed in 1963, in Jackson, Mississippi, allegedly to better the conditions of the white race and to insure peaceful coexistence of the races in the South. Many members of this group belong to various Klan organizations. Due to the Klan infiltration membership in the organization has dwindled and it is now a front for the Klan. Some members are suspected in the recent bombing in the Jackson, Mississippi, area.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

In a letter published by Roy Campbell, Mississippi President of the Americans for Preservation of the White Race, some accusations were made about the late Martin Luther King. I quote: "an infamous character who has over 100 communist front citations, who has been described by J. Edgar Hoover as a most notorious liar in the country," and "that Michael L. King (his real name) was agitating at the behest of his communist manipulators." Was Martin Luther King a tool of the International Arm of Communism?

My history class and I would like to know if there is any truth to these statements. If so, please send me a copy of what you find.
